

GOVERNOR DEMANDS INCOME TAX!

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Rebellion of Building Trades Union May Impair Revival of Industries

WASHINGTON — Behind the scenes in the A. F. of L. is being waged a brawling cat-and-dog fight. Unless settled without delay, it may gravely impair the President's far-reaching plans for a revival of the heavy goods industry.

The fierce fracas revolves about the issue of who shall rule the Federation's powerful Building Trades Department.

A number of years ago the carpenters, bricklayers and electricians staged a bitter jurisdictional quarrel with other construction unions and succeeded from the Federation. Last Spring, on a united front led by President Bill Green, they agreed to return to the A. F. of L. fold.

They sent in their per capita dues and peace appeared assured. Then, suddenly, word spread that the three unions, backed by the teamsters and hod carriers, were secretly planning to capture control of the Building Trades Department and throw out incumbent office holders.

Mike McDonough, veteran President of the Department, refused to accept the proffered dues and the fight started again with renewed fury.

Attempts at the recent San Francisco convention to settle the controversy proved unavailing. Green, maneuvering desperately to bring about peace, stalled off an open break by announcing that a special building trades convention would be called later in Washington.

This assembly was supposed to meet last week, but it failed to materialize.

McDonough and the dozen unions affiliated with his Department refused to participate. Furthermore, they have notified Green that if the bolters are taken back they will secede.

Both sides are threatening reprisals. The bolters have announced their intention of raiding A. F. of L. unions by seeking members from their ranks. A. F. of L. organizations have replied that in such event they will tie up every construction job in the country with jurisdictional strikes.

The Administration, on the verge of initiating a vast Government-financed building program, is watching the feud with much uneasiness.

If the feud is not settled, the Labor Board probably will step in—and not for the benefit of Labor.

Spelling

Approximately one in every three letters addressed to the President misspells his name. Widest from the mark was one beginning, "Dear Presedent Roosevelt."

About one in every fifteen wrote his name "Theodore Roosevelt." One earnest correspondent misspelled the name, discovered it later, and wrote:

"I wrote you this morning. I see that I spelled your name wrong. I hope you'll take it good-natured."

Off Key

No administration in years has taken more pains in polishing up its relations with the press than the Roosevelt regime. And in general it has been extremely successful.

But in the harmony of the New Deal there has been one sour note. It comes from the one lady member of the Cabinet. Miss

EUROPE AGAIN FEARS BALKAN WARFARE NEAR

Yugoslavian Troops Enter Hungary; Denied Under Orders

REFUGEES INCREASE
Exiles, 20,000 Strong, Leaving Yugoslavia

By International News Service
An incident gravely affecting the peace of Europe occurred early today when a group of Yugoslavian soldiers crossed the frontier near Szeged into Hungary.

Restraint of Hungarian soldiers by their officers prevented a clash but the incident served to aggravate the tension caused by Yugoslavia's wholesale expulsion of Hungarian residents.

Action of the Yugoslav troops was tacitly admitted in Belgrade, but it was denied they had crossed the frontier under orders.

Meanwhile, the Hungarian cabinet called a special meeting to deal with the refugee problem, precipitated by Yugoslavia's round-up of Radical suspects as an aftermath of the assassination of King Alexander.

REPORT CRUELTY

The international Red Cross considered sending a commission to the Yugoslav-Hungarian border to investigate charges that needless cruelty is being exercised in the expulsions.

In the meantime, the exodus of hundreds of ragged and poverty-stricken Hungarians from Yugoslavia was creating a situation that was rapidly assuming more and more serious proportions.

Scenes reminiscent of the Belgian refugee columns of 1914 were seen at important frontier points, like Szeged and Pecs, which reported that they were already becoming overcrowded.

Six hundred more exiles arrived in Budapest this morning. Most of them are peasants, and many are Croats who, although Hungarian in nationality, do not speak a word of Hungarian, and are not even aware of the reason for the deportation.

With no homes to go to, no friends or relatives, and practically no money, they stood all day around relief stations, bewildered.

PAROLE VIOLATOR SENT TO PRISON

Hoyt Tharp of Williamsport was in the county jail Friday under a one to 15 years sentence to the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield after admitting being a parole violator.

Jan. 17, 1933 Tharp was placed on a two-year parole by Judge J. W. Adkins for breaking and entering. His parole would have expired next January 17.

Harry Smith of Monroe-type informed officers that $42 belonging to him, and Tharp, were missing. Prosecutor Ray Davis later received information that Tharp was in Williamsport and notified Constable George King to arrest him. Tharp admitted the embezzlement and was taken into Judge Adkins' court.

Orrin Reigel of Ashville began serving 30 days in the county jail Thursday placed against him by Judge Adkins for a liquor law violation. He was also fined $500 on two charges.

Joseph Lewis, 62, of Tarlton, who pleaded guilty to a statutory offense for which a 14-year-old girl is now serving in the Delaware reformatory, was taken to the Ohio penitentiary Friday to begin serving a one to 20 year term. He was taken by Deputy Miller Fissell.

MADER ON SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF 88

Lincoln Mader, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mader, 202 N. Court-st., has been named one of the two Pickaway-co. delegates on the Committee of 88 at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware.

Committee members, who are students chosen from the various Ohio counties, have full information on Ohio Wesleyan and will be available during the holiday season for conferences concerning the selection of a college.

A graduate of Circleville high school, Mader is a sophomore in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The other committee member from Pickaway-co. is Virginia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Smith, Williamsport.

Pan Kingfish, Ousted

Two of the seven journalism students expelled by Louisiana State university after criticizing Senator Huey Long's dictatorship over the university are Stanley Schlossman, top of Marshalltown, Ia., and Sam Montague, below, of New Orleans, president of the Journalism school students. The expulsions resulted from signing of a petition requesting freedom of the press on the campus after the "Kingfish" had censored "Reveille," student newspaper.

JURY TO SCAN ROSS-CO VOTE?

Election Board Officials Call Precinct Workers To Explain Counting.

CHILLICOTHE, Dec. 7.—With the possibility that a grand jury investigation may be called, all election booth workers in the First Ward, Precinct F, were to appear before the Ross-co Board of Elections this afternoon in connection with alleged ballot irregularities.

The booth workers were summoned after a recount of ballots in the precinct reversed the results in two county contests. It was reported that if evidence warrants the action, a grand jury investigation may be demanded by County Prosecutor Lester Reid.

Recount of the ballots resulted in the return of office of Mrs. Hattie Ott (D) as county clerk, and L. G. Thomas (D) as treasurer. It apparently assured the election as auditor of William H. Herstein (D) also, it was said.

THAW BEAT HER, GIRL'S SUIT SAYS

HARRISONBURG, Va., Dec. 7.—Harry K. Thaw was named defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed today by Miss Calenia Lador, of New York, who charged he beat her with a whip and his fists.

She claimed the beating occurred in Berlin Aug. 31, 1933, and suit was filed here since Thaw has an estate in Winchester.

Her bill of complaint charged Thaw, now 69, and gray, beat her with his fists threw her to the floor and "thaw" with a certain whip and with his hands gave and struck the plaintiff a great many violent blows on and about divers part of her face and body.

FIENDISH ATTACKER OF GIRL, 5, HUNTED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 7.—Little Patsy Jean Robertson, 5, was rushed to a hospital here today following an assault made on her while she lay sleeping in her crib, police announced.

Details of the attack were not immediately available. Police launched a determined search to round up the fiendish attacker.

16 ENGINEERS BEGIN SURVEY OF 2 RIVERS

Try To Do Three Months' Work in One To Get Conservancy Effort Moving

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—In an effort to lay initial plans for the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy project before President Roosevelt shortly after Christmas, a crew of 16 engineers today were scattered throughout the valleys of the two rivers surveying sites for 11 dams and a diversion cut.

Under the direction of Prof. C. E. Sherman, of the Ohio State university engineering school, the engineers were attempting to complete a job in less than a month which would ordinarily take three months.

The work is being pushed in an effort to have the $36,000,000 Scioto-Sandusky project included in the report of the President's planning commission, which it is believed will determine which of the larger projects throughout the nation will obtain funds from the public Works Administration in 1935.

SPED RECOVERY

"Speed is essential," Alan Jordan, newly appointed secretary and treasurer of the conservancy district, declared. "We want the initial plans complete and ready to lay before the planning commission, if possible. If the survey is not finished until after Jan. 1 we will have to go directly to PWA officials."

Prof. Sherman, appointed chief engineer for the survey, has been granted a three-month leave of absence from Ohio State. He will select the most likely sites for the first 11 of the 37 dams to be included in the project, and will direct the survey of the route of the diversion channel which will connect the Scioto and Sandusky rivers near their sources.

Aimed at control of floods, drought, and soil erosion, the project would create a series of lakes between Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS KILLED BY RAIDERS

ROME, Dec. 7.—Thirty-two native Italian soldiers were killed and 30 wounded in a violent clash which occurred when a band of armed Abyssinian raiders attacked the Italian garrison near Uluval wells in Italian Somaliland, according to information here today.

Extent of casualties among the Abyssinians, who fled with the arrival of Italian reinforcements, was not known.

Premier Mussolini immediately ordered a strong diplomatic protest to Addis Ababa, Abyssinian capital.

Italian forces moved airplanes and other military equipment to the border.

While details of the clash were lacking, it was understood two airplanes participated, giving it the aspect of a real battle. The raiders used machine-guns and by taking the garrison by surprise, inflicted heavy casualties.

DAY DISCLOSES STATE FINANCES

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Money in the general revenue fund in Ohio at the end of November totaled $2,753,580 as compared with $5,234,384 on October 31, Harry S. Day, state treasurer, reported today.

The total amount in the treasury, excepting the teachers' retirement fund and the Workmen's compensation reserve, was $13,210,275 on November 30 as compared to $13,825,044 on October 1. In addition, the teachers' fund contained $67,016,519 and the compensation reserve was $38,510,136.

FIVE ENDORSED BY DEMOCRATS FOR OHIO JOBS

Ward, Bumgarner, Gehres, Ball, Gephart Supported by Committee

24 ATTEND MEETING
Former Official Seeks Deputy Marshall Job

Five endorsements several of which would place local men in important positions were voted by the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee at its meeting Thursday evening in the auditor's office.

John G. "Doggy" Ward, Jr., E. Union-st., was pledged the committee's support for deputy United States marshal.

Orville Bumgarner was voted support for a position in the tax department. He passed a civil service examination quite a while ago but he remains eligible with an extension granted. Bumgarner who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for recorder two years ago is now living in Westerville.

Hillard Gehres, E. Union-st., was endorsed by the committee for a position as assistant highway engineer in the state highway department.

James Ball, Walnut-twp., was voted an endorsement for journal clerk in the Ohio senate. He now holds a position in the house of representatives. Ball is a law student at Ohio State university.

Thomas E. Gephart who is now acting postmaster at Williamsport was endorsed by the committee for the actual appointment. Although a list of eligibles has never been announced the committee was informed Gephart's name is included. The endorsement was voted in order to obtain action on the appointment.

Two other post offices in the county are to change masters in the near future. They are at New Holland and Orient. G. G. Adkins, chairman of the executive committee, informed members of the committee that he would contact Congressman Mell G. Underwood as soon as possible to have him push action on the appointments.

Twenty-four committee members attended the meeting.

$1,000 ORDERED PAID UNDER WILL

An entry has been filed in common pleas court over Judge J. W. Adkins signature instructing H. B. Weaver, executor of the estate of the late W. J. Weaver, to purchase Liberty Bonds in the value of $1,000 plus interest from June 30, 1933 to be delivered to Miss Blanche McCrady under the Weaver will.

A decision of Judge Adkins in the will's construction was upheld in a recent verdict of the court of appeals.

TWO DIVORCES FILED

Two divorce petitions had been filed in common pleas court today one by Hazel E. Erk against Oscar Erk and the other by Catherine Wright against Martin E. Wright.

The former charges gross neglect of duty and failure to provide and the latter charges failure to provide.

The Erks were married in Covington, Ky. May 28, 1929 and have no children while the Wrights were married in Greenup, Nov. 10, 1933, and have no children.

Mrs. Erk asks that she be restored to her maiden name of Hazel Neff.

ROTARIANS PLEASED BY TIPPETT'S TALK

Rotarians heard a talk full of interest and humor Thursday when Dr. Donald H. Tippet, pastor of the Bexley M. E. church, spoke at its meeting.

Comparing biblical times with present times through the days of prosperity and the depression, Dr. Tippet impressed his listeners that co-operation is one of the important things needed to get us out of the depression.

He compared the days of King Solomon to the prosperous days of 1929 and the reign of his son that followed to the days that followed our prosperity in 1929.

Dr. Tippet was introduced by Rev. Herman A. Sayre pastor of the M. E. church.

Leroy Carson

Less than 36 hours after the murder, Leroy Carson, 24-year-old former convict who confessed the slaying of 12-year-old Leone Love near Lansing, Mich., began serving a life sentence at Marquette prison. Carson admitted he layd the girl, made advances to her and shot her with a hunting rifle when she started to cry.

MRS. REICHE IS CRITICAL

Shows No Signs of Regaining Consciousness; Daley "Remains Same."

Mrs. Margaret Reiche who fell headfirst from the second story porch at her W. Main-st. residence Thursday morning while dusting a rug remained unconscious at Berger hospital today with her injuries not yet fully determined.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon she passed the twenty-ninth hour since her fall and has shown no signs of regaining consciousness. It has been reported her skull was fractured and neck broken by the fall.

E. L. Daley, superintendent of schools, remained "about the same" today at Berger hospital with his condition still critical. The stricken man is "very weak," reports said.

Two victims of fractured skulls in recent accidents have been discharged from Berger hospital. Mrs. Mose Rutter who was riding in the automobile of her husband when it was struck by a Pennsylvania train last week was removed to her home Thursday evening while Clarence Logsdon of near Ashville, who had his skull fractured in an auto collision Nov. 9, was taken home today.

STORM HITS WEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Winter clamped an icy hand on the upper central states today with the temperature here falling to fourteen degrees above zero, coldest of the year.

The cold weather came close on the heels of a snow storm that set a new Dec. 6 record here with 6.2 inches of precipitation.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel warned that more snow was due in the middle west today. The cold wave will continue, he said.

While the snowfall was general in the upper central states Chicago received the brunt of the storm. Over 6,000 men were employed by the city and traction companies to clear thoroughfares and transportation lines.

The cold wave sent hundreds of homeless to relief stations for shelter.

TWO CHILDREN DIE

IN HOUSE FLAMES

MUSKEGON, Mich., Dec. 7.—An overheated stove was blamed today for the fire deaths of two children, whose charred bodies were taken from the ruins of their farm home.

The victims were Violet Buckner, 4, and her brother, Lonnie, 2. They were the only children of Winfield Buckner, and his wife, Ethel.

The children were in bed, and their parents were working in the barn when the fire started. The father was severely burned about the hands and arms as he vainly tried to rescue them.

Threatens Veto If Sales Tax Is Voted Without Income; Up to Those Who Can Pay, He Says

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Threatening to wield his veto power on the measures already passed, Governor George White today "cracked down" on the state legislature and demanded passage of an income tax measure.

"I am still insisting," the governor declared, "that the senate accept its responsibility to the people of Ohio by adopting an income tax which will require those who have the ability to pay to bear a just portion of their share of the cost of government."

"As governor," he continued, "it is my duty to represent all the people of the state who had no lobby in the state capital when the bills were passed."

The governor was asked if his stand meant he would veto the sales tax, already adopted by the legislature, if an income tax is not passed.

"You can draw your own conclusions from my statement," the governor replied tersely. "It speaks for itself."

"It was with some hesitation," the governor continued, "that I originally advocated a sales tax, knowing that it would fall with considerable hardship upon those in moderate circumstances. This conclusion was only justified by the imposition of an adequate income tax upon those who had the distinct ability to pay in conjunction with the sales tax."

LISTED FOUR POINTS

The governor listed the four points of his recommended tax program which were the three per cent sales tax, re-enactment of the liquid fuel tax, an increase tax upon gross receipts of public utilities and an adequate income tax.

120 OHIO LIQUOR STORES PAY WAY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Only one of the 121 liquor stores in the state has failed to pay its own way from the period starting with operation to Sept. 29, a survey of the profit-and-loss statements at the liquor control department revealed today.

It was the branch store at Ottawa, which reported a cumulative loss of $765 as of Sept. 29. Three other stores also show margins of loss up to that date but profits in recent weeks have made them self-paying it was said. The latter were the branches at New Lexington, Wapakoneta and Paulding.

Cleveland turned in approximately 20 per cent of the total profits of $1,230,189 with sales in stores there showing a balance of $226,572, during the first 25 weeks of operation.

The single store with the largest profit, however, was the No. 1 store at Columbus with a gain of $48,379.

School Mates Aid

Condemned Edwards

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 7.—Former school mates of Robert Allan Edwards, 21, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the "American tragedy" slaying of Freda McKechnie, 26, came to his assistance today by launching a drive to raise $2,000 to make an appeal to the supreme court for a new trial.

The youthful slayer will be executed at a date to be fixed by the governor unless the high court intervenes.

Edwards' parents have become impoverished by the proceedings to date. Defense counsel announced it will not press an appeal unless funds are forthcoming.

ALL POINTS OF SALE TAX BILL WIN APPROVAL

Joint Conference Approves Utilities Tax; Vote Expected Shortly

INCOME TAX BEATEN

Three Items Included In Voted Bills

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—An agreement was reached today by the joint house and senate conference committee on conflicting points in the McCluskey utilities excise tax increase bill.

If the house and senate accept the joint committee's report on which a vote was to be taken shortly, the entire emergency tax program minus the income tax will go to the governor for signature.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Ohio's schools may not close their doors after all, and local governments will not break up for want of operating revenue.

If they do, it cannot now be blamed on the state legislature which after three weeks of bickering finally agreed on an emergency tax program based on a 3 per cent bracket retail sales tax and containing no income tax.

Both the house and senate were expected to adjourn sine die this afternoon after accepting the report of a joint conference committee which is threatening out differences over the McCluskey bill increasing the excise tax on utilities one per cent.

INCOME BEATEN 19-8

Due to the senate's 19-to-8 defeat of the Ward income tax bill, that feature was slashed from the administration's temporary tax program. While the governor several times has indicated he would not sign a sales tax bill unless accompanied by an income tax, few persons expected him to accept responsibility for the consequences of an executive veto.

Three tax program bills have been passed by both branches of the general assembly, and await only the signatures of the presiding officers before going to Gov. George White for executive approval. They are:

1. Three per cent bracket retail sales tax, effective Jan. 1, 1935 and expiring Dec. 31, 1935. Tax commission experts say this act will net $60,000,000 annually, while George Sheridan, director of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants says it will be between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000.

2. Three per cent gross receipts tax on theater and amusement park admissions to be assumed by the exhibitors themselves in return for exemption from the sales tax. It is expected to net about $1,000,000, as compared with $900,000 produced by the present 10 per cent "nuisance tax" on admissions which will be suspended, as will most other "nuisance taxes" (Continued On Page Eight)

LINEMAN INJURED IN 25-FOOT FALL

W. O. Titler, 60, of Columbus, an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Co., suffered a fractured left hip and left arm here Thursday when he fell 25 feet from a pole in the rear of the residence of H. M. Crites, S. Court-st.

Titler had come here to make repairs on the Western Union's clock circuit and was on the pole when the catch on the heavy belt, which holds him failed to snap.

He was given temporary relief by Dr. D. V. Courtwright and was taken to Grant hospital in a Columbus ambulance. C. W. Clark, local Western Union manager, notified his Columbus office of Titler's injury and that office sent the ambulance for the injured man.

MILITARY BUDGET AWAITS ACTION OF FOREIGN POWERS

NEED OF GOOD DEFENSE SEEN

Buchanan Says Both Services To Seek Increase In Enlisted Numbers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The nation's military budget for next year depends upon "what Japan and the other powers are going to do," Chairman James P. Buchanan (D) of Texas, of the House appropriations committee, said today.

If Japan goes through with her plan to renounce the arms treaty and limitations of armaments falls, Congress will provide whatever is needed for a "adequate national defense," he asserted. Although President Roosevelt's annual budget is to be submitted to Congress in 20 days, the army and navy estimates have not been completed.

FUNDS UNCERTAIN

"The army and navy figures will be ready sometime in January when our sub-committees are ready to begin work on them," said Buchanan. "But we won't know what the appropriations are going to be because we don't know what Japan and the other powers are going to do."

"If the international situation is disturbed, whatever amount may be necessary can be taken care of in a deficiency appropriation bill or a resolution near the end of the session."

"If the arms conference breaks down, I believe that Congress will be willing to provide the funds necessary for an adequate national defense."

bill. I expect the budget estimates to provide for further mechanization of the army.

"I express no opinion on the number of naval vessels to be provided. Whatever is necessary for the national defense, determined after full and careful hearings, should be provided."

Buchanan conceded that army and navy appropriations probably will be increased because of the rise in cost of food and materials. The navy expects its costs to be higher because of a rise in the cost of oil, food, clothing, and both services will be affected if the full pay cut is restored.

Appropriations for the navy in the last session totaled $284,658,799, with $255,526,147 provided for the purely military activities of the war department.

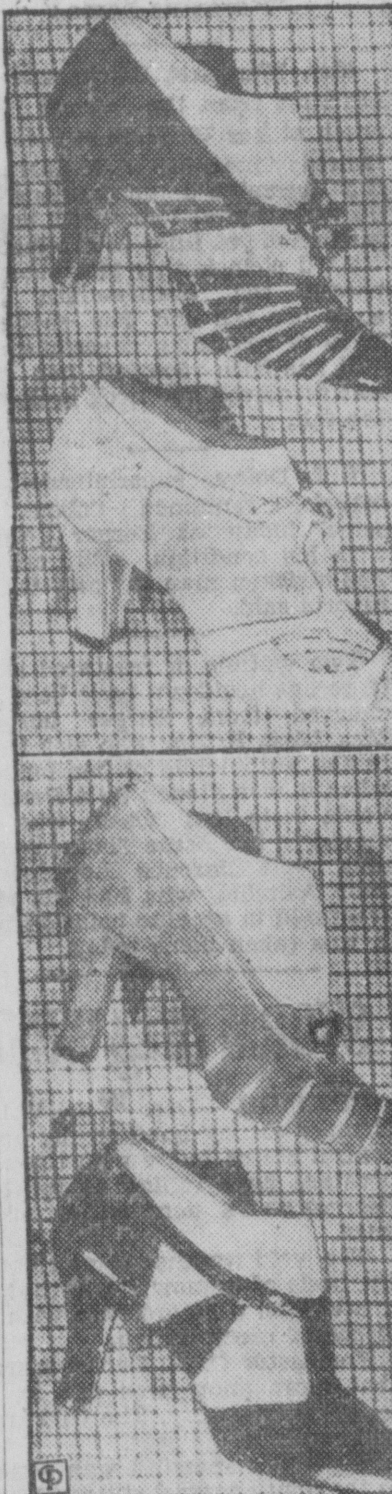

INCREASE STRENGTH

Both services will seek an increase in the enlisted strength in the new Congress, increase of air forces and general strengthening of the military machines.

HOW to DANCE

"The Continental"

In 8 Easy Lessons

The Sixth Movement

WE are now in the SIXTH MOVEMENT of "THE CONTINENTAL," performed by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers' big new dance in "The Gay Divorcee," and our love story, as depicted by a couple in a dance routine, is a climax.

There are two phases of the SIXTH MOVEMENT. Only the first phase is illustrated above. It is the "Cut Out."

The couple, if you remember, were separated in the FIFTH Movement, as the girl did a strut around her partner. The cut-out starts from the same separated position.

... It is done in 4-4 time, four counts to a measure, and requires two bars of music for completion.

As in the sidewise tap, previously explained, the girl's movements are identical with the gentleman's, except that she begins with her left foot and he starts with his right, so that their kicks will be in the same direction.

To do the cut-out the gentleman hops upward with his right toe and strikes it against the floor on counts One and Two of the measure. Simultaneously, the left foot is lifted and kicked backward and to the right on the count of One, then straight out to the left at the count of Two.

On counts Three and Four the same procedure is repeated, except that you hop on the left toe and kick with the right. The movement is then repeated for another count of four.

CONTINUING the development of the SIXTH MOVEMENT, the above illustration shows the second phase of the movement.

Above lesson showed the first phase, or the "cut-out." Now we show the second phase, or the "Low Down Walk." This is "THE CONTINENTAL's" one concession to jazz, as danced by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "The Gay Divorcee."

The "cut-out" was timed to two bars of music. Two more bars are devoted to the "low-down strut."

During these two bars of music, a count of eight, the "low-down walk" is employed as the partners strut around in a small circle. They do not cross. The circles are independent.

The "walk" is merely a Fox Trot walk, and is known as the "low-down walk" because the shoulders are shaken up and down in rhythm with the music.

METHODIST SOCIETIES HAVE CHURCH DAY

December church day at the Methodist Episcopal church was held Thursday with about fifty attending the luncheon at noon in charge of Mrs. L. E. Davidson.

The Foreign Missionary society convened at 10:30 a. m. with Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, president, in charge. Group singing of a hymn and prayer by Mrs. W. C. Baum opened the session.

During the business meeting Miss Francis Metzger was elected leader of Standard Bearers.

Mrs. Mack Noggle was leader of the program on "Music and the Message." Mrs. George Marion gave several scripture readings which were interspersed by vocal solos by Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. Noggle and Mrs. J. O. Eagleson.

Mrs. H. A. Sayre read an article on the description of various kinds of music in different countries and Mrs. Noggle talked on Music and its Relation to Christianity.

Mrs. Harold Grant explained the little box shares, Mrs. George Marion asked the mystery box questions and the Christmas offering was taken during the playing of Holy Night by Mrs. Hunsicker.

Mrs. Gerhardt was in charge of the stewardship and the meeting closed with group singing of Joy to the World.

The Ladies' Aid met at 1 p. m. for a business session and at 1:30 o'clock the Home Missionary society meeting was opened by Mrs. F. E. Barnhill, president.

Mrs. George Pontius conducted the devotionals the theme being "Peace and Goodwill."

"Sweet Hour of Prayer" was a vocal duet by Mrs. Clark Hunsicker and Mrs. James P. Moffitt and Mrs. Moffitt also sang "Bless This House."

The chapter in the study book, "What About the Japanese?" was reviewed by Mrs. Carl Ritz and a playlet, "The Radio Speaks," closed the program.

Mrs. Barnhill, Mrs. W. T. Ulm, Mrs. Hunsicker, Mrs. Harry Griner and Miss Estelle Grimes were the characters in the playlet.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS AT KERN'S HOME

Mrs. C. O. Kerns and Mrs. John Kerns, W. Union-st., were hostesses at the December meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the United Brethren church Thursday evening at their home.

The home was appropriately decorated with Christmas colors and a prettily lighted and trimmed Christmas tree.

Mrs. James Trimmer, president, opened the meeting with a short business session after which a program was presented under the leadership of Miss Nelle McCollister. "Sharing Jesus and the Christmas Spirit with Other Lands" was the topic.

The Christmas story was read from the Bible by Mrs. Clyde White and history of several Christmas carols were told by Miss McCollister interspersed by group singing of the songs.

Mrs. John Kerns told the story of The Coming of the Shepherds and Clifford Lewis Kerns sang "Dear Little Stranger."

The Story of the Wise Men was read by Mrs. Frank Hussey and Mrs. Ralph Long told the Christmas Legend of St. Francis. After a vocal number, "His Yoke Is Easy," by Mrs. Iley Greene, the program closed with prayer by Mrs. Trimmer.

Refreshments in keeping with the season were served by the hostesses and as the guests departed they were presented prettily wrapped pop corn balls by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Pearce and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Peters accompanied by Miss Ann Wilson who is directing the play to be sponsored next week by the Royal Neighbors at the Grand Theatre and her assistants Henry Mooney and Eddie Ashbrook motored to Pataskala Thursday evening to see the presentation of "Crashing Thru," at the high school there.

Marian Martin Pattern

Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.

PATTERN 9211

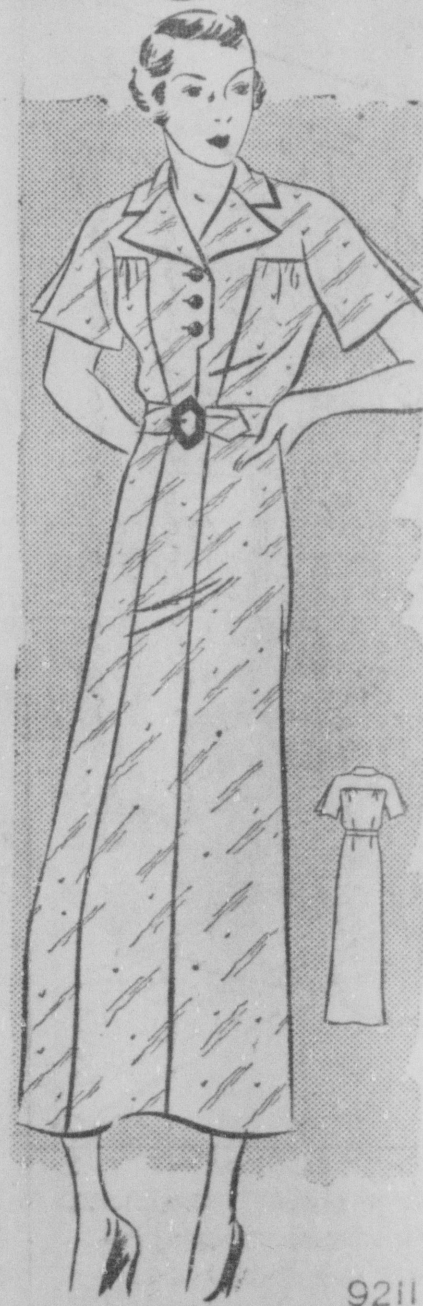

It's a shirtwaist house frock, this spirited and youthful design—just the sort of outfit to set you swinging about your house work in record time. The pleated sleeves are cut in one piece with the chic bodice yokes—a neatly notched collar tops the comfortably full blouse—and the long panel, running from hemline to the yoke, is as slenderizing as it is smart. A striped or checked sarsucker, or a bright monotone broadcloth, would be a grand choice for this dress. Then you'll have a frock that will not only be "just right" for the house, but also, when warmer days come along, will be usable as a sport dress.

Pattern 9211 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Do not miss our WINTER PATTERN BOOK of smart, easy-to-make clothes designed by our style authority, MARIAN MARTIN. Styles for every age and all occasions. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

MRS. BROWN NAMED HEAD OF PYTHIAN SISTERS

Mrs. Fred Brown was elected most excellent chief of Majors' temple Pythian Sisters at the temple's regular meeting Thursday evening.

Other officers named included Mrs. William E. Fitzpatrick, past chief; Mrs. James Carpenter, most excellent senior; Mrs. Frank Davis, most excellent junior; Miss Helen Liston, manager; Mrs. Ralph Roby, protector; Miss Clarissa Talbut, outer guard; Miss Ethel Stein, installing officer; Mrs. Willis Liston, pianist; Mrs. Charles Stofer and Mrs. John Ward, trustees; Miss Ethel Stein, captain of the degree staff; Mrs. Oral Storts, representative to the grand lodge; Miss Nellie Bolander, alternate; Mrs. John Ward, representative to district convention; Mrs. Fred Brown, alternate.

About twenty five members were present at the session and preceding the election plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 20 at which there will be exchange of gifts and donations for Christmas baskets for the needy.

Mrs. Charles Stofer, Mrs. William Betts, Jr., Mrs. Guy Pettit and Mrs. Fitzpatrick were named as a committee in charge of the donations and the distribution of the baskets.

Mrs. Roy Beatty was appointed chairman of the decorating for the party and Mrs. James Carpenter chairman of the lunch.

Members voted to send $5 to the K. of P. home for the children and aged in Springfield. The meeting closed after the election of officers.

MRS. BROOKS HOSTESS TO LADIES' SOCIETY

Mrs. E. R. Brooks, W. Corwin-st., entertained the members of the Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid at her home Thursday afternoon. Fifty members and guests enjoyed the meeting which was opened by the president Mrs. Cecil Ward with a devotional service.

A short business session was conducted and the following program was presented: readings by Mrs. Ned Walker and Mrs. J. R. Hott and a recitation by Ruth Louise Brooks.

A fifteen minute program of accordion music by Hillaire Haacker was highly enjoyed by the group.

All members having birthdays in December were presented a corsage by their hostess.

Refreshments were served later in the afternoon by Mrs. Brooks who was assisted by her mother and sisters, Mrs. R. L. Row and Misses Ruth and Bernice Row.

MORRIS CHAPEL AID HAS DECEMBER MEETING

Thirty five members and visitors of Morris Chapel Ladies' Aid gathered at the home of Mrs. Harley Allen, Pickaway-twp., Thursday afternoon, for their December session.

Mrs. Albert Musselman, president, opened the meeting with a devotional service which was followed by business transactions.

The program consisted of group singing of Christmas carols and several Christmas readings by Mrs. Charles Mowery, Mrs. Andrew Warner, Miss Dorothy Kerns and Mrs. James Pierce.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wayne Martin and Mrs. Ray Johnson.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Turney Pontius, Pickaway-twp., with Mrs. Oland Schooley and Mrs. James Pierce assisting.

Afghan
Has Flower
Stripes

Here is a lovely, lacy afghan—fluffy—soft—yet warm. The stripes look like tiny daisy flowers strung together, and are in a crochet stitch that gets done quickly. This afghan is lovely in three shades of one color, though it also is effective in a variety of colors. If desired, each stripe could be done in a different color, making a Roman stripe effect.

In pattern 5254 you will find exact directions for making the afghan; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements, and color suggestions. SEASON OF DANGERS

THE proverbial thin air is not the only thing upon which should fall the warnings which annually come at this time of the year from watchful family physicians and public health officers. It would pay all to heed them and heed them well.

During the changeable days of autumn and winter people should be careful in their habits. Influenza in epidemic form can make its appearance with startling suddenness under the proper combination of atmospheric conditions and human carelessness. And the common cold thrives on the same sort of combination.

Certain rules are almost essential in fall and winter if one is to escape these ills, which are always annoying and often serious. These simple rules are dress sensibly, eat carefully, sleep regularly and make sure body poisons are being thrown off properly. Where body resistance is strong weather changes are not to be feared.

No other three human maladies cause as much discomfort and economic loss as influenza, grippé and colds. Through them millions of production days are lost between November 1 and June 1, virtually every employed man and woman losing at least one day's work a year because of one or the other of them.

Could medical science exterminate the germs responsible for these human disorders, it would thereby bestow upon mankind the greatest of all benefactions. But while waiting for this long-hoped-for benefaction the public should make the fullest use of known methods of prevention.

A MATTER OF AGE

MRS. Roosevelt believes that 6 or 7 is not too early an age for putting a child on an allowance, though a very small allowance. "They must learn how to manage their own money," said Mrs. Roosevelt. "If they are constantly allowed to ask their fathers and mothers for everything which they want, they never have a free choice, which comes when you have your own money and can decide how to spend it and when to save it and what to give away."

The recommendation is so far from the idea of regimentation and has such a decided ring about it of rugged, although pre-adolescent, individualism and laissez faire that it makes a person rub his eyes. One will recall, however, that there is a gap. Individualism for the six and seven-year-olds is a far step from the individualism of railroad presidents, farmers and manufacturers.

Outcast for 15 years, Old Man Mars is going to find a home? Colorado Peak Shakes Under Snow Blanket. As who hasn't? Nearly every man has been provided with plenty of facilities for minding his own business.

Most individuals do not have the ambition to make good unless it also includes making money.

The odds on war in Europe within a year, as quoted by Lloyd's, are now 1 to 10. With how many takers?

If the supposed sea serpent turns out to be merely a whale or shark after all, it will have fulfilled the final tradition of all serpents discovered to date.

The allowance of the Duke of Kent, now that he is married, has been increased from $50,000 to $125,000. The royal fiscal agents, it seems, have figured it out that two can live as cheaply as two and a half.

Boston footballers, back from a contest with the Sing Sing team, say the opposition played a clean game and showed fine sportsmanship. The boys from the big house may have their weaknesses but, apparently, dirty football is not one of them.

CHAPTER XXVII

"What can you know—that Howard hasn't told me?" Caroline demanded, confident that her mother was harboring some unfounded suspicion.

"I know that there is reason to believe that Howard married Gwendolyn Hoffmann to better the Duns-worth fortunes," Alva said caustically. "We have kept it from you, your father and I, but he learned recently that it was Gwendolyn's father who backed Henry Duns-worth in gaining control of the Rutledge factory and ruining Philip."

Caroline was stunned for a moment, then "But that isn't Howard's fault!" she cried. "It only brought him and Gwendolyn together—he told me himself, that his father and Mr. Hoffmann were negotiating some business deal at the time."

"Some business deal!" Alva repeated. "He did not tell you it was the Rutledge factory they were negotiating? Don't you see, Caroline, that was evasion, to say the least."

"Mother, we hadn't time to talk about that. Why should Howard deceive me?"

"To keep you from suspecting that he had married for money."

Caroline shook her head, a patient half-smile softening her lips. "Howard knows I shouldn't believe that, really," she said dreamily.

Alva regarded her in dismay. "You still believe that nonsense about sacrificing himself?"

"Of course," Caroline admitted. "But don't let's quarrel, dearest. Perhaps I am a weak sentimentalist—I wasn't, once, and I made a mess of everything. If I were to be suspicious and hard now I should have no happiness at all to hope for."

"Then you would gamble on Howard's honesty? You expect—happiness with him?"

"Yes."

"They are going to be divorced?"

"Naturally."

"Did he tell you so?"

"I think he was about to tell me when you arrived."

"You think! Caroline!"

"Oh, please, Mother," the girl passed a hand wearily before her eyes. "I'm very tired."

Alva could not say more. The time until Howard came again was passed in silent, anxious speculation. She admitted him with frosty politeness, took the box of roses he brought and told him that Caroline was in the living room.

The girl, excited, had slept but little the night before, for deep in her heart was a small voice that faintly schooled her mother's doubts.

She was lying on the couch, her head on a blue silken pillow. Her hair, cut short, looked like a halo of red-gold about her ethereal countenance.

Her last faint doubt fled before Howard's presence. As he stooped and kissed her she felt like a traitor toward him. How foolish, how recklessly ungrateful, to weigh love in the scale with other emotions.

"You're like an orchid," he said. "I feel as though I could crush you if I were to hold you as close as I'd like."

Caroline smiled, remembering that her grandfather had called her mother an orchid for a very different reason. Well, Alva was no longer a parasite; now she was as frail as a flower. She was a girl alive again with new hope—waiting.

Her mother came in with the roses in a vase. "Talisman," Caroline breathed. "They do act as a charm, don't they? The room is positively aglow with their color."

"And you're aglow with temperance," her mother reminded her. "Don't let her talk too much, Howard."

"Howard will do the talking," Caroline said.

Mrs. Rutledge left them, but Howard did not say the things Caroline was waiting to hear. Instead he talked about his flight to California—polo at Del Monte, sailing in San Francisco Bay, tuna fishing, the week he spent at Catalina, and of the newly aroused interest among society people in Mexico City.

"We will go there some day, Caro," he said eagerly. "You haven't been, have you?"

"Not to Mexico City. I should like to go."

"I shan't be able to get away for quite a while. Dad's got a job for me at the factory. At least he insists that I hang around a few hours each day. I can't refuse, because I'm up against it financially."

Suddenly Caroline laughed. "It's not a bad place to work," she said, unconsciously repeating the words Malcolm had used.

"But I hate to be tied down for no good purpose at all," he objected. "You've no idea how irritating it is."

"Perhaps I have," she said. "You see, I worked for your father several months this summer, myself—but to some purpose, I assure you!"

He looked at her blankly.

"In the factory," she added.

Alva had raised funds, and suspected that they were nearer the exact end of their resources than her mother had admitted. It might be necessary to go back to the factory, but the work would no longer be made easier through being a medium to success.

She did not like to tell Howard what was in her mind, but he appeared to guess.

"If I ask you to wait for me," he said tactfully, "I have the right to ask you to allow me to assume your support."

Caroline looked doubtful. "It might be spending hours for me to refuse, if I were the only one," she replied, "but there are my parents. Mother would never hear of it."

"How about your father? We

"Caroline, it makes me feel like a brute to think of what you've been through."

"Caroline, not really. Where— but you don't mean in the factory— with the other workers?"

"Right in the factory. Your father didn't know. I was always afraid I'd be recognized by someone who would tell him, but he's kept almost none of the people. Father had—"

"He left. Your father really isn't running the factory as it should be run at all, Howard. I should like to tell him a few things."

"He'd blame the depression," Howard said, "but I can't imagine Caroline. It makes me feel like a brute to think of what you've been through. I had no idea things were so bad for you."

"Haven't you heard that we lost everything?"

"Yes, but I thought the stories were exaggerated. Howard, what did you think of it?"

"It looked like a pretty bad fall, of course, but to think of your working there in the factory—I can't get over it! Why didn't you get me something else—something more—"

"More like you?"

"Oh, Howard," Caroline laughed softly. "What a lot you would learn if you had to earn your own living! That job at the factory was the only one I could get. You mustn't tell your father, because I'll go back to it if—"

"She paused, preferring that he should mention his divorce from Gwendolyn—when it might be back," he declared. "Please try to think of how I'd feel."

Caroline was thinking more of how she'd feel. Marrying Howard would change everything—the search for the perfect face rejuvenator would be left to others—there would be no point in working at the factory beyond the need of money. But she would need money. Should there be a long delay before Howard was free. She knew how

MRS. GILLIS FACES TERM OF ONE YEAR

Gangster's Widow Taken To
Madison Jail To Await
Hearing Today.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 7.—Mrs. Helen Gillis, 21-year-old widow of desperado George "Baby Face" Nelson, was locked in the Dane-co jail today awaiting disposition of her fate by federal authorities bent on crushing the last remnants of the Dillinger gang.

Department of justice agents maintained a close guard over the fragile widow since she was secretly hurried here from Chicago yesterday after a week of questioning.

Mrs. Gillis may be arraigned today before Federal Judge Patrick Stone for violation of probation, an offense for which she may be sent to prison for a year and a day.

She was placed on probation here last May after pleading guilty to a charge of harboring John Dillinger and Nelson in the Little Bohemia resort at Mercer, Wis. Mrs. Gillis and two other gang girls were captured after the desperados shot their way out of a federal trap at the resort, killing a federal operative in the battle.

Mrs. Gillis was with her public enemy husband, Nelson, when he and two federal agents, Samuel P. Cowley and Herman Hollis, were shot to death in the course of a desperate gun battle at Barrington, Ill. Government officials said they had not yet determined whether the widow would be prosecuted for her asserted part in the Barrington slayings.

KNOW YOUR WORLD

Christ of the Andes

Christ of the Andes.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of instructive articles on points of interest in the world.

By Central Press.

ONE OF THE most remarkable monuments in the world is a colossal bronze statue of Jesus Christ set up on the highest accessible point on the once disputed boundary between Chile and Argentina.

In 1902 Chile and Argentina were preparing for war over a boundary dispute. Through the efforts of women and clergy the powers were persuaded to settle the question by arbitration. Money thus saved, it was pointed out, could be used for harbors and roads. Part of the money, that might have been spent for war went into the building of the great trans-Andean railway, connecting Santiago and Buenos Aires.

Women of both countries raised the money for the statue. Bronze was obtained by melting down old cannon taken from Spain in the war of independence. The figure of Christ is 26 feet high and stands on a tall granite pillar surmounted by a globe on which a map of the world is outlined. A tablet at the base bears this inscription:

"Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace to which they have pledged themselves at the feet of Christ the Redeemer."

ABANDON HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF 3 AIRMEN

Search Continues in Hawaiian Waters But All Hope Is Feared Gone.

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 7.—Hope fastly waned today in the search for Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm and his two companions, Navigator J. A. Skilling and Co-pilot G. M. Littlejohn who were forced down at sea three days ago in a tragic climax to their ill-fated trans-Pacific flight.

Fears were increased that the monoplane, "Star of Australia," probably sank shortly after striking the water near Honolulu just before noon Tuesday.

Sixteen of the 20 naval sea-planes participating in the search within a 300-mile radius of Honolulu were ordered grounded by Admiral Harry Yarnell.

Admiral Yarnell issued the order to permit the crews, working for 72 hours, a chance to recuperate and check the engines of their planes.

He also ordered nine submarines to return to their base at Lahaina to await further orders.

Surface ships patrolling the waters were reduced to 11. Three coast guard vessels continued to search the seas within a 300-mile radius of Oahu Island.

A howling wind which churned the ocean last night hampered search operations.

Naval fliers returning to their base late yesterday reported the heavy wind 200 miles off shore in a northerly direction.

OHIO DELEGATION TO BACK CROSSER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Indications were today that all 18 of Ohio's Democratic congressmen would be solidly behind the candidacy of Robert Crosser of Cleveland who has announced he seeks the speakership.

Congressman Arthur Lamneck of Columbus plans to call the Ohio delegation for a meeting next week in Columbus to make plans for the campaign to elect Crosser.

FORM NEW CLUB

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Francis Poulson, chairman of the Ohio Democratic executive committee, has been announced as head of new Roosevelt-Davey clubs being organized through Ohio. A quarter of a million members in all the 88 counties will be organized under Poulson's plans.

Have you found the
on your grocer's shelf?

It's a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. Millions of Americans have found Kellogg's All-Brân a safe, effective means of correcting common constipation—the kind caused by lack of "bulk" in the menu.

Laboratory measurements show that All-Brân provides "bulk" to aid elimination. All-Brân also supplies vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in this tempting cereal is more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables—because it resists digestion better. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this cleans out the intestinal waste.

Isn't this natural food better than taking patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls of All-Brân daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If this fails to give relief, see your doctor.

Enjoy All-Brân as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Kellogg's All-Brân contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Dinner at the dining table, beautiful in its appointments—preceded play when Mrs. Kenneth List was hostess to her Friday night Bridge club, last week.

Scores being added, it was found that Miss Carolyn Bochar held high, while Mrs. Thomas B. Gephart scored lowest. Gifts were presented accordingly. Guests of the club included, Mrs. Gephart, Mrs. G. B. Metzger and Mrs. George W. Miller. Mrs. Lee Luelien will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. John L. Hursicker and daughter, Mrs. Edna H. Newhouse were Sunday afternoon callers of Mrs. Anna Ritt and Mrs. Frank Gordin in Circleville.

The annual installation of officers in Heber chapter No. 62 Order of Eastern Star, will be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 13th. Dinner will be served to the membership of the chapter preceding the session.

Mrs. Addie Schein and daughters, Misses Grace and Lena Schein were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart. D. C. Harmount of Chillicothe was a visitor here Wednesday. The annual Christmas Party of the local W. F. M. S. will be held Thursday evening at the home of the Pres. Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker. The membership is invited to attend.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

HOLD CAGE CLINIC

Basketball clinic of more than passing importance—one from which local cagers might obtain a number of pointers—will be held in Chillicothe tomorrow at the high school gymnasium—Coach Earl Young of the Chillicothe school is in charge of it and has on the program Trainer Tarr Olson of Ohio university to talk at 9:30 on "Common Injuries and Sprains"; Russ Finsterwald, official; Butch Grover, Ohio U. coach; and H. R. Townsend, high school athletic commissioner for Ohio. It looks like an Ohio university homecoming but it isn't—400 are expected to attend.

IRISH LEAD PARADE

Notre Dame might not have the best football team in the nation but it draws the cash customers through the turnstiles—Figures announced Thursday show to Irish played before 357,000 persons in eight games; last year it was 382,000—Ohio State ranks second in the midwest with 205,995 seeing five games against 137,896 a year ago. Army and Navy trail the Irish in second and third places.

BERENS IS TOUGH

Ohio State's cagers opening their season Saturday night must stop Bernard Berens tall center from Lancaster if they are going to win from the Ohio U. team—Beane as he is called is an alumnus of St. Mary's and is plenty tough under that basket.

STARTS AT 7:30

See you this evening at the high school game; the preliminary starts at 7:30 and the admission is 35 cents.

BIG TEN FACES FIVE ISSUES IN 2-DAY SESSION

May Move Practice Date Up; Freshman Ruling Considered Important.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—The machinery which makes the wheels go around in the Western conference will be overhauled and greased for another year today when the coaches, faculty advisers and directors of athletics gathered here for the annual two day meeting.

In addition to drawing up schedules for the various sports a number of important matters were up for discussion. These were sorely within the province of the faculty committee, governing body of Big Ten affairs.

Foremost among these problems were:

1. Opening of football practice on Sept. 10 instead of Sept. 15.
2. Elimination of the interpretation which counts freshman competition elsewhere the same as varsity competition in the Big Ten.
3. Approval of a modified training table to permit one meal a day for football players.
4. Restoration of budgets for minor sports.
5. Banning outside coaching and writing by western conference coaches during the season.

The earlier football practice date is being urged by institutions such as Purdue, Indiana and others where Sept. 15 usually marks the opening of classes. Their coaches argue that Ohio State, Michigan and one or two other schools can practice all day until Oct. 1, while they are limited by rules to two hours after classes begin.

Minnesota is vitally interested in the freshman interpretation, for unless there is a change the great 1935 Gopher football machine will lose some of its key men, including Bill Bevan and Stan Kostka, both of whom played freshman football at Oregon before entering Minnesota.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR PRO CONTEST

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Officials who will call the decisions in the world's championship football game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears in New York Sunday were announced here today by Joe Carr, president of the national football league.

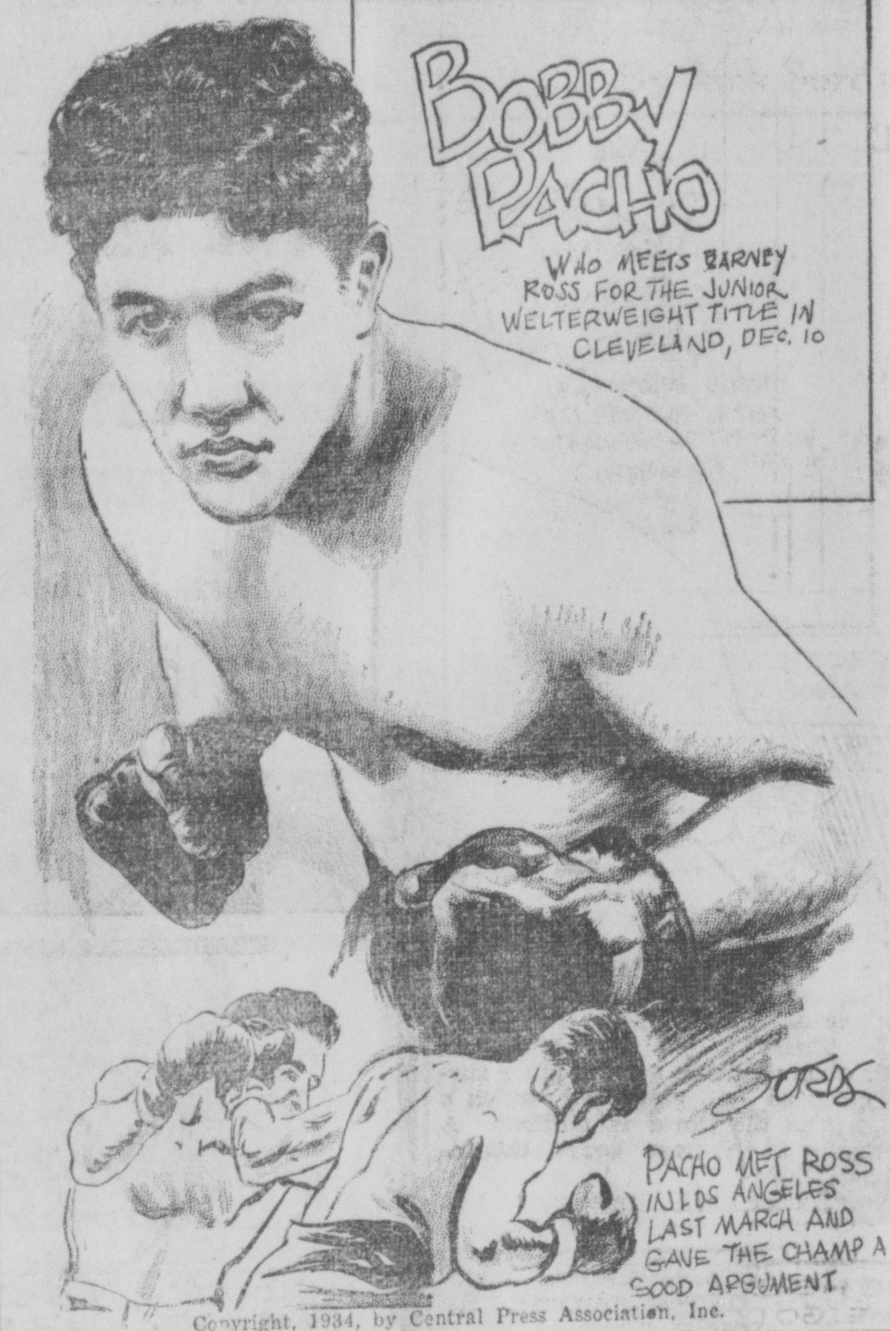

They were Bobbie Cahn (Chicago) of Chicago, Ill. referee; G. W. Lowe (Dartmouth) of Boston, umpire; George Vergara (Notre Dame) of New York, head linesman; and Judge M. J. Meyer (Ohio Wesleyan) of Toledo, field-judge.

SELL OUT LOOMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Not so many years ago, interest in professional football was at such a low ebb that you could hardly give away tickets.

Today, with a sell-out in prospect for the championship play-off game here Sunday between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears, counterfeits were peddling spurious tickets for the game. Officials of the New York club were on the warpath in the Times Square district, trying to run down scalpers selling fake duces.

CAGE SEASON OPENS TONITE

Williamsport Comes Here; Two County Games Also Holding Interest.

Williamsport is expected to bring a large number of rooters here this evening when its basketball team tangles with the Circleville high team in the lid-lifter in this city.

Reserves of both schools will open the evening's program at 7:30 o'clock with Johnny Heiskell on the whistle end.

Williamsport is reported to have a pretty fair cage team this year and may make the Tigers step along.

Coach Herberholz has not yet announced his starting lineup with the pivotal position reported at a deadlock between Charlie Styers and Fred Grant.

Henry, Speakman, John Jenkins and Kirwin are expected to be four of the starters.

Two other games are holding considerable interest tonight. They are the Ashville-New Holland fray on the former court and that between Salt Creek and Stoutsville on the Fairfield-co floor.

Bowling News

Strawboard bowlers occupied the Circleville recreation alleys Thursday evening with the result that the Papermakers lost two to the Office in close matches and the Power crew took a pair from the Maintainers.

Watson with 485, Ekirs with 480 and Norris with 465 were the team leaders.

FOOTBALL HELPS PRINCETON FUND

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 7.—With football leading the way, the Princeton university athletic association announced today that it had reduced its accumulated deficit by $24,527 for the fiscal year June, 1933-June, 1934.

The Tiger gridmen brought in $216,407, an increase of 26 percent over the previous year, and except for track, which netted $541, was the only paying sport. The association's debt, despite its profit this year, still remains well over the $100,000 mark.

BISHOPS AT GOODYEAR

Miami will open with Georgetown at Oxford next Wednesday night, Dec. 12, and Ohio Wesleyan's championship quintet will take on Goodyear at Akron on Dec. 14. Schedules for Cincinnati and Marshall have not yet been released, but both will play several December games in order to tune up for the Buckeye season which opens early in January.

CIRCLEVILLE IRON & METAL COMPANY

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Champion Mayor

Frances Perkins constantly is singing off key. This is not new with the Secretary of Labor. As a member of Roosevelt's cabinet in New York State, she successfully shunned the press. She hesitated to come to Washington for that reason.

"Here (in New York) we have been building brick by brick," she told a friend just before she accepted the Secretaryship of Labor. "But in Washington we shall be expected to perform miracles overnight and with the full spotlight of publicity playing on us. I hate the thought of it."

At the beginning of the New Deal, Miss Perkins probably got a better press than any other member of the Cabinet. But it did not last long. She was hostile, dictatorial, irregular with her press conferences and invariably late.

Almost every conference started with a little harangue by the Secretary, in which she adopted the attitude of a school marm explaining the ABCs. Finally, a newsman broke in with a question. Then, if the firing became too hot the conference was suddenly terminated.

Rising, Miss Perkins announced: "I'm sorry, you will have to excuse me. I have another appointment."

VILLAGE PWA WORK MOVING AT FAST PACE

Weather Fine For Ashville
Water Works Project; New Bonds Being Printed.

Weather conditions the past month have been favorable and as a result considerable progress has been made on Ashville's water works project.

Bartling and Son have completed laying water mains, placing fire hydrants and testing of lines on the west side with the exception of several squares on Jefferson-ave. In the territory east of the Norfolk & Western railroad there yet remains that portion of Long-st from Gay south to Main-st, Bortz-st and all of Main-st.

The one part of the work that has lagged behind is the property installations. The contract specifies these are to be pushed in from the mains. The machine being used will do the work provided no obstructions are to be dealt with, but so far very few have gone in on first trial. The contractors have laid off their machine crews and are back filling the trenches as soon as tested. They will follow up later and if impossible to push the pipes will dig the trench and install the line. The guarantee of 180 free services has been secured and quite a few are yet signing conditional applications. Some measures will have to be provided to take care of all who desire the service.

Downing & Hetrick are working on the iron removal plant, the concrete foundation having been poured.

Australian Fliers Forced to Descend in Pacific

Confused by fog and rain and fuel tanks emptied, the "Star of Australia," monoplane carrying Captain Charles T. P. Uim, and his companion, G. M. Littlejohn, and J. A. Skilling, on an America-to-Australia flight, was forced down in the Pacific ocean off during the life of the sales tax.

PASS SALES TAX

3. One-cent per gallon liquid fuel tax. This law, already in effect until Jan. 1, 1935, was re-enacted for another year. It now nets about $10,000,000, but the assembly exempted gasoline used by dry cleaners and in the manufacture of paint which will reduce the receipts next year by about $250,000.

Aside from the defeated income tax, the only other proposal was the one per cent increase in utilities excise taxes to yield about $3,000,000 a year. Both houses have passed this bill but the lower branch refused to accede to senate amendments, so the measure was sent to a joint conference committee.

ACCORD EXPECTED

Three hours lucubration, ended at midnight with no agreement reached, but Rep. James A. Jones (R) Ravenna, member of the conference committee, said he anticipated an accord soon after deliberations were resumed at 9:30 a. m. today.

Besides Jones, other committee members for the House were Reps. Julius Headington (D) Mt. Vernon, and B. J. McCluskey (D) Cleveland, author of the bill. The senate members were Frank Whittemore (R) Akron, W. P. Haynes (D) West Lafayette, and E. N. Waldvogel (D) Cincinnati.

Chief points of contention were whether to apply the increase to railroads as well as other utilities, the house saying yes and the senate no; whether to exempt all utilities in charter cities (Cincinnati and Akron) where the new 10-mill real estate tax limitation will be operative, and whether to include or omit the Whittemore amendment exempting from the excise tax the first $100,000 gross income of gas and telephone companies.

Reason for increasing the utilities excise tax was to retrieve for the state a portion of the money utility companies will save when the new 10-mill amendment becomes effective next year. Their total savings is estimated at $6,000,000, only half of which would be recovered under the McCluskey bill if railroads, because of their unhealthy fiscal condition, are spared the one per cent increase.

For a time after the Senate turned thumbs down on the income tax the whole program appeared in jeopardy. House members boomed a message from the upper house announcing the 19-to-8 defeat of its pet measure, but they backed down on their threat to kill the sales tax by refusing to concur in senate amendments exempting milk, bread and newspapers and making numerous other corrections in the bill as passed by the House.

BALLOT 73 to 23

Tremendous pressure was exerted by the school and local government lobbies before the House finally voted 73 to 23 to accept the senate amendments, after being assured by Rep. Keith Lawrence (D) Cleveland, there remained not a particle of hope that the senate would recede from its obstinate anti-income tax position.

Lobbyists not only "applied the heat" behind the rail in the house chamber but invaded the floor itself. Twice the sergeant-at-arms marched lobbyists off the floor after receiving complaints from members.

In urging House members to accept senate changes in the sales tax, Majority Floor Leader Lawrence stated that even with the income tax omitted the tax bills agreed upon would raise $75,000,000 or more.

"After all," he said, "the income tax, outside of the principle involved, is of minor importance as it would have raised no revenue until 1936. The senate agreed to three-fourths of our program. I am unwilling to take the responsibility for enacting no program, simply because we couldn't get all we wanted."

PLAQUE LEADS TO OPENING OF GAME RESERVE

Roosevelt Park in Scioto-Co
To Be Thrown Open
January 1.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—After 12 years as a "forbidden land" for hunters and fishermen, the 9,000 acres of the Roosevelt game preserve in Scioto-co are to be thrown open for full recreational activities.

Discovery of a bronze plaque on a forgotten monument in an unfrequented spot of the woods resulted in the ruling by the state conservation council yesterday declaring that the park henceforth will be open to sportsmen.

The plaque brought to memory the fact that the park was purchased from hunting license funds and originally was dedicated "to the benefit of Ohio sportsmen." For the last 12 years, however, the park has been banned to hunters and fishermen.

PLAQUE FOUND

Discovery of the forgotten plaque was made recently by State Conservation Commissioner William J. Reinhart upon a visit to the game reserve to inspect a 27-acre lake being constructed by his department there. Reporting the plaque's inscription to members of the conservation council, Reinhart asked that the park be restored immediately to the purposes of Ohio Sportsmen. The proposal was adopted immediately.

As a result of the council's action, the game preserve will be thrown open to hunters and fishermen beginning Jan. 1, 1935. Preparations will be made, according to Reinhart, to handle large parties of sportsmen.

Because of the fact it has been barred against hunters and fishermen for the last 12 years, the preserve should be a virtual "sportsman's paradise," Reinhart indicated. He said the park abounds with small game. The adjoining 27-acre lake will be stocked next year with thousands of mature fish to provide immediate sport.

Reinhart said plans are being made for the construction of camp-sites, outdoor ovens and community dining halls in the park. It is planned, he said, to charge a small registration fee for admittance to the park, the money to be used for the upkeep of the preserve.

Rebellion of Building Trades Union May Impair Revival of Industries

WASHINGTON — Behind the scenes in the A. F. of L. is being waged a brawling cat-and-dog fight. Unless settled without delay, it may gravely impair the President's far-reaching plans for a revival of the heavy goods industry.

The fierce fracas revolves about the issue of who shall rule the Federation's powerful Building Trades Department.

A number of years ago the carpenters, bricklayers and electricians staged a bitter jurisdictional quarrel with other construction unions and seceded from the Federation. Last Spring, on a united front plea of President Bill Green, they agreed to return to the A. F. of L. fold.

They sent in their per capita dues and peace appeared assured. Then, suddenly, word spread that the three unions, backed by the teamsters and hod carriers, were secretly planning to capture control of the Building Trades Department and throw out incumbent office holders.

Mike McDonough, veteran President of the Department, refused to accept the proffered dues and the fight started again with renewed fury.

Attempts at the recent San Francisco convention to settle the controversy proved unavailing. Green, maneuvering desperately to bring about peace, stalled off an open break by announcing that a special building trades convention would be called later in Washington.

This assembly was supposed to meet last week, but it failed to materialize.

McDonough and the dozen unions affiliated with his Department refused to participate. Furthermore, they have notified Green that if the bolters are taken back they will secede.

Both sides are threatening reprisals. The bolters have announced their intention of raiding A. F. of L. unions by seeking members from their ranks. A. F. of L. organizations have replied that in such event they will tie up every construction job in the country with jurisdictional strikes.

The Administration, in the verge of initiating a vast Government-financed building program, is watching the feud with much uneasiness.

If the feud is not settled, the Labor Board probably will step in—and not for the benefit of Labor.

Spelling

Approximately one in every three letters addressed to the President misspells his name. Widest from the mark was one beginning, "Dear President Roosevelt."

About one in every fifteen write his name "Theodore Roosevelt."

One earnest correspondent misspelled the name "discovered" later, and wrote:

"I wrote you this morning. I see that I spelled your name wrong. I hope you'll take it good-natured."

Off Key

No administration in years has taken more pains in polishing up its relations with the press than the Roosevelt regime. And in general it has been extremely successful.

But in the harmony of the New Deal there has been one sour note. It comes from the one lady member of the Cabinet, Miss

EUROPE AGAIN FEARS BALKAN WARFARE NEAR

Yugoslavian Troops Enter Hungary; Denied Under Orders

REFUGEES INCREASE Exiles, 20,000 Strong, Leaving Yugoslavia

By International News Service
An incident gravely affecting the peace of Europe occurred early today when a group of Yugoslavian soldiers crossed the frontier near Szeged into Hungary.

Restraint of Hungarian soldiers by their officers prevented a clash but the incident served to aggravate the tension caused by Yugoslavia's wholesale expulsion of Hungarian residents.

Action of the Yugoslav troops was tacitly admitted in Belgrade, but it was denied they had crossed the frontier under orders.

Meanwhile, the Hungarian cabinet called a special meeting to deal with the refugee problem, precipitated by Yugoslavia's round-up of Radical suspects as an aftermath of the assassination of King Alexander.

REPORT CRUELTY

The International Red Cross considered sending a commission to the Yugoslav-Hungarian border to investigate charges that needless cruelty is being exercised in the expulsions.

In the meantime, the exodus of hundreds of ragged and poverty-stricken Hungarians from Yugoslavia was creating a situation that was rapidly assuming more and more serious proportions.

Scenes reminiscent of the Belgian refugee columns of 1914 were seen at important frontier points, like Szeged and Pecs, which reported that they were already becoming overcrowded.

Six hundred more exiles arrived in Budapest this morning. Most of them are peasants, and many are Croats who, although Hungarian in nationality, do not speak a word of Hungarian, and are not even aware of the reason for the deportation.

With no homes to go to, no friends or relatives, and practically no money, they stood all day around relief stations, bewildered.

PAROLE VIOLATOR SENT TO PRISON

Hoyt Tharp of Williamsport was in the county jail Friday under a one to 15 years sentence to the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield after admitting being a parole violator.

Jan. 17, 1933 Tharp was placed on a two-year parole by Judge J. W. Adkins for breaking and entering. His parole would have expired next January 17.

Harry Smith of Monroe-type informed officers that $42 belonging to him, and Tharp, were missing. Prosecutor Ray Davis later received information that Tharp was in Williamsport and notified Constable George King to arrest him. Tharp admitted the embezzlement and was taken into Judge Adkins' court.

Orren Reigel of Ashville began serving 30 days in the county jail Thursday placed against him by Judge Adkins for a liquor law violation. He was also fined $500 on two charges.

Joseph Lewis, 62, of Tarlton, Ohio, pleaded guilty to a statutory offense for which a 14-year-old girl is now serving in the Delaware reformatory, was taken to the Ohio penitentiary Friday to begin serving a one to 20 year term. He was taken by Deputy Miller Fissell.

MADER ON SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF 88

Lincoln Mader, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mader, 202 N. Court-st., has been named one of the two Pickaway-co. delegates on the Committee of 88 at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware.

Committee members, who are students chosen from the various Ohio counties, have full information on Ohio Wesleyan and will be available during the holiday season for conferences concerning the selection of a college.

A graduate of Circleville high school, Mader is a sophomore in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The other committee member from Pickaway-co. is Virginia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Smith, Williamsport.

JURY TO SCAN ROSS-CO VOTE?

Election Board Officials Call Precinct Workers To Explain Counting.

CHILLICOTHE, Dec. 7.—With the possibility that a grand jury investigation may be called, all election booth workers in the First Ward, Precinct F, were to appear before the Ross-co Board of Elections this afternoon in connection with alleged ballot irregularities.

The booth workers were summoned after a recount of ballots in the precinct reversed the results in two county contests. It was reported that if evidence warrants the action, a grand jury investigation may be demanded by County Prosecutor Lester Reid.

Recount of the ballots resulted in the return to office of Mrs. Hattie Ott (D) as county clerk, and L. G. Thomas (D) as treasurer. It apparently assured the election as auditor of William H. Harnstein (D) also, it was said.

FIENDISH ATTACKER OF GIRL, 5, HUNTED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 7.—Little Patsy Jean Robertson, 5, was rushed to a hospital here today following an assault made on her while she lay sleeping in her crib, police announced.

Details of the attack were not immediately available. Police launched a determined search to round up the fiendish attacker.

16 ENGINEERS BEGIN SURVEY OF 2 RIVERS

Try To Do Three Months' Work in One To Get Conservancy Effort Moving

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—In an effort to lay initial plans for the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy project before President Roosevelt shortly after Christmas, a crew of 16 engineers today were scattered throughout the valleys of the two rivers surveying sites for 11 dams and a diversion cut.

Under the direction of Prof. C. E. Sherman, of the Ohio State university engineering school, the engineers were attempting to complete a job in less than a month which would ordinarily take three months.

The work is being pushed in an effort to have the $36,000,000 Scioto-Sandusky project included in the report of the President's planning commission, which it is believed will determine which of the larger projects throughout the nation will obtain funds from the public Works Administration in 1935.

SPED RECOVERY

"Speed is essential," Alan Jordan, newly appointed secretary and treasurer of the conservancy district, declared. "We want the initial plans complete and ready to lay before the planning commission if possible. If the survey is not finished until after Jan. 1 we will have to go directly to PWA officials."

Prof. Sherman, appointed chief engineer for the survey, has been granted a three-month leave of absence from Ohio State. He will select the most likely sites for the first 11 of the 37 dams to be included in the project, and will direct the survey of the route of the diversion channel which will connect the Scioto and Sandusky rivers near their sources.

Aimed at control of floods, drought, and soil erosion, the project would create a series of lakes between Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS KILLED BY RAIDERS

ROME, Dec. 7.—Thirty-two native Italian soldiers were killed and -30 wounded in a violent clash which occurred when a band of armed Abyssinian raiders attacked the Italian garrison near Uffral wells in Italian Somaliland, according to information here today.

Extent of casualties among the Abyssinians, who fled with the arrival of Italian reinforcements, was not known.

Premier Mussolini immediately ordered a strong diplomatic protest to Addis Ababa, Abyssinian capital.

Italian forces moved airplanes and other military equipment to the border.

While details of the clash were lacking, it was understood two airplanes participated, giving it the aspect of a real battle. The raiders used machine-guns and by taking the garrison by surprise, inflicted heavy casualties.

DAY DISCLOSES STATE FINANCES

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Money in the general revenue fund in Ohio at the end of November totaled $2,753,580 as compared with $2,234,384 on October 31, Harry S. Day, state treasurer, reported today.

The total amount in the treasury, excluding the teachers' retirement fund and the Workmen's compensation reserve, was $13,310,275 on November 30 as compared to $13,825,044 on October 1. In addition, the teachers' fund contained $67,016,519 and the compensation reserve was $38,510,136.

FIVE ENDORSED BY DEMOCRATS FOR OHIO JOBS

Ward, Bumgarner, Gehres, Ball, Gephart Supported by Committee

24 ATTEND MEETING

Former Official Seeks Deputy Marshall Job

Five endorsements several of which would place local men in important positions were voted by the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee at its meeting Thursday evening in the auditor's office.

John G. "Doggy" Ward, Jr., E. Union-st., was pledged the committee's support for deputy United States marshal.

Orville Bumgarner was voted support for a position in the tax department. He passed a civil service examination quite a while ago but he remains eligible with an extension granted. Bumgarner who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for recorder two years ago is now living in Westerville.

Hillard Gehres, E. Union-st., was endorsed by the committee for a position as assistant highway engineer in the state highway department.

James Ball, Walnut-tw., was voted an endorsement for journal clerk in the Ohio senate. He now holds a position in the house of representatives. Ball is a law student at Ohio State university.

Thomas B. Gephart who is now acting postmaster at Williamsport was endorsed by the committee for the actual appointment. Although a list of eligibles has never been announced, the committee was informed Gephart's name is included. The endorsement was voted in order to obtain action on the appointment.

Two other post offices in the county are to change masters in the near future. They are at New Holland and Orient. G. G. Adkins, chairman of the executive committee informed members of the committee that he would contact Congressman Mel G. Underwood as soon as possible to have him push action on the appointments.

Twenty-four committee members attended the meeting.

$1,000 ORDERED PAID UNDER WILL

An entry has been filed in common pleas court over Judge J. W. Weaver signature instructing H. B. Weaver, executor of the estate of the late W. J. Weaver, to purchase Liberty Bonds in the value of $1,000 plus interest from June 30, 1933 to be delivered to Miss Blanche McCrady under the Weaver will.

A decision of Judge Adkins in the will's construction was upheld in a recent verdict of the court of appeals.

TWO DIVORCES FILED

Two divorce petitions had been filed in common pleas court today one by Hazel E. Erk against Oscar Erik and the other by Catherine Wright against Martin E. Wright.

The former charges gross neglect of duty and failure to provide and the latter charges failure to provide.

The Erks were married in Covington, Ky. May 28, 1929 and have no children while the Wrights were married in Greenup, Nov. 10, 1933, and have no children.

Mrs. Erk asks that she be restored to her maiden name of Hazel Neff.

ROTARIANS PLEADED BY TIPPETT'S TALK

Rotarians heard a talk full of interest and humor Thursday when Dr. Donald H. Tippet, pastor of the Bexley M. E. church, spoke at its meeting.

Comparing biblical times with present times through the days of prosperity and the depression, Dr. Tippet impressed his listeners that co-operation is one of the important things needed to get us out of the depression.

He compared the days of King Solomon and the prosperous days of 1929 and the reign of his son that followed to the days that followed our prosperity in 1929.

Dr. Tippet was introduced by Rev. Herman A. Sayre pastor of the M. E. church.

Michigan Justice

Leroy Carson

Less than 36 hours after the murder, Leroy Carson, 24-year-old former convict who confessed the slaying of 12-year-old Leone Love near Lansing, Mich., began serving a life sentence at Marquette prison. Carson admitted he waylaid the girl, made advances to her and shot her with a hunting rifle when she started to cry.

MRS. REICHE IS CRITICAL

Shows No Signs of Regaining Consciousness; Daley "Remains Same."

Mrs. Margaret Reiche who fell headfirst from the second story porch at her W. Main-st. residence Thursday morning, while dusting a rug, remains unconscious at Berger hospital today with her injuries not yet fully determined.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon she passed the twenty-ninth hour since her fall and has shown no signs of regaining consciousness. It has been reported her skull was fractured and neck broken by the fall.

E. L. Daley, superintendent of schools, remained "about the same" today at Berger hospital with his condition still critical. The stricken man is "very weak," reports said.

STORM HITS WEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Winter clamped an icy hand on the upper central states today with the temperature here falling to fourteen degrees above zero, coldest of the year.

The cold weather came close on the heels of a snow storm that set a new Dec. 6 record here with 6.2 inches of precipitation.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel warned that more snow was due in the middle west today. The cold wave will continue, he said.

While the snowfall was general in the upper central states Chicago received the brunt of the storm. Over 6,000 men were employed by the city and traction companies to clear thoroughfares and transportation lines.

The cold wave sent hundreds of homeless to relief stations for shelter.

TWO CHILDREN DIE

MUSKEGON, Mich., Dec. 7.—An overheated stove was blamed today for the fire deaths of two children, whose charred bodies were taken from the ruins of their farm home.

The victims were Violet Buckner, 4, and her brother, Lonnie, 2. They were the only children of Winfield Buckner, and his wife, Ethel.

The children were in bed, and their parents were working in the barn when the fire started. The father was severely burned about the hands and arms as he vainly tried to rescue them.

AUTO ROBE STOLEN

Mary May Haswell was reported to police that a robe was stolen from her automobile parked on Pickney-st.

Threatens Veto If Sales Tax Is Voted Without Income; Up to Those Who Can Pay, He Says

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Threatening to wield his veto power on the measures already passed, Governor George White today "cracked down" on the state legislature and demanded passage of an income tax measure.

"I am still insisting" the governor declared, "that the senate accept its responsibility to the people of Ohio by adopting an income tax which will require those who have the ability to pay to bear a just portion of their share of the cost of government."

STANDS FOR PEOPLE

"As governor," he continued, "it is my duty to represent all the people of the state who had no lobby in the state capital when the bills were passed."

The governor was asked if his stand meant he would veto the sales tax, already adopted by the legislature, if an income tax is not passed.

"You can draw your own conclusions from my statement," the governor replied tersely. "It speaks for itself."

"It was with some hesitation," the governor continued, "that I originally advocated a sales tax, knowing that it would fall with considerable handicap upon those in moderate circumstances. This conclusion was only justified by the imposition of an adequate income tax upon those who had the distinct ability to pay in conjunction with the sales tax."

LISTED FOUR POINTS

The governor listed the four points of his recommended tax program which were the three per cent sales tax, re-enactment of the liquid fuel tax, an increase in tax upon gross receipts of public utilities and an adequate income tax.

120 OHIO LIQUOR STORES PAY WAY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Only one of the 121 liquor stores in the state has failed to pay its own way from the period starting with operation to Sept. 29, a survey of the profit-and-loss statements at the liquor control department revealed today.

It was the branch store at Ottawa, which reported a cumulative loss of $765 as of Sept. 29. Three other stores also show margins of loss up to that date but profits in recent weeks have made them self-paying it was said.

The latter were the branches at New Lexington, Wapakoneta and Paulding.

Cleveland turned in approximately 20 per cent of the total profit of $1,230,189 with sales in stores showing a balance of $226,572, during the first 25 weeks of operation.

The single store with the largest profit, however, was the No. 1 store at Columbus with a gain of $48,379.

School Mates Aid

Condemned Edwards

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 7.—Former school mates of Robert Allan Edwards, 21, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the "American tragedy" slaying of Freda McKechnie, 26, came to his assistance today by launching a drive to raise $2,000 to make an appeal to the supreme court for a new trial.

The youthful slayer will be executed at a date to be fixed by the governor unless the high court intervenes.

Edwards' parents have become impoverished by the proceedings to date. Defense counsel announced it will not press an appeal unless funds are forthcoming.

NRA CASE TO JURY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 7.—The case of Fred C. Perkins, York, Pa., battery manufacturer accused of defying the NRA by paying his employees less than the wage prescribed by the code for that industry, was given to a jury at 11:44 this morning in federal court here.

ALL POINTS OF SALE TAX BILL WIN APPROVAL

Joint Conference Approves Utilities Tax; Vote Expected Shortly

INCOME TAX BEATEN

Three Items Included In Voted Bills

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—An agreement was reached today by the joint house and senate conference committee on conflicting points in the McCuskey utilities excise tax increase bill.

If the house and senate accept the joint committee's report on which a vote was to be taken shortly, the entire emergency tax program unless the income tax will go to the governor for signature.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Ohio's schools may not close their doors after all, and local governments will not break up for want of operating revenue.

If they do, it cannot now be blamed on the state legislature which after three weeks of haggling finally agreed on an emergency tax program based on a 3 per cent bracket raise, sales tax and containing no income tax.

Both the house and senate were expected to adjourn on the afternoon after announcing the report of a joint conference committee which is threatening to increase the sales tax to 3 per cent.

INCOME BEATEN IN-3

Due to the senate's 10-1 vote defeat of the Ward income tax bill, that feature was dropped from the administration's temporary tax program. While the governor's original times has indicated he would not sign a sales tax bill unless accompanied by an income tax, few persons expected him to accept responsibility for the consequences of an executive veto.

Three tax program bills have been passed by both branches of the general assembly, and await only the signature of the presiding officers before going to Gov. George White for executive approval. They are:

1. Three per cent bracket retail sales tax, effective Jan. 1, 1935 and expiring Dec. 31, 1935. Tax commission experts say this act will net $60,000,000 annually, while George Sheridan, director of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants says it will be between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000.

2. Three per cent gross receipts tax on theater and amusement park admissions to be assumed by the exhibitors themselves in return for exemption from the sales tax. It is expected to net about $1,000,000, as compared with $900,000 produced by the present 10 per cent "nuisance tax" on admissions which will be suspended, as will most other "nuisance taxes" (Continued On Page Eight)

LINEMAN INJURED IN 25-FOOT FALL

W. O. Titter, 60, of Columbus, an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Co., suffered a fractured left hip and left arm late Thursday when he fell 25 feet from a pole in the rear of the residence of H. M. Crites, S. Court-st.

Titter had come here to make repairs on the Western Union's clock circuit and was on the pole when the catch on the heavy belt, which holds him failed to snap.

He was given temporary relief by Dr. D. V. Courtwright and was taken to Grant hospital in a Columbus ambulance. C. W. Clark, local Western Union manager, notified his Columbus office of Titter's injury and that office sent the ambulance for the injured man.

MILITARY BUDGET AWAITS ACTION OF FOREIGN POWERS

NEED OF GOOD DEFENSE SEEN

Buchanan Says Both Services To Seek Increase In En-listed Numbers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The nation's military budget for next year depends upon "what Japan and the other powers are going to do," Chairman James P. Buchanan (D) of Texas, of the House appropriations committee, said today.

If Japan goes through with her plan to renounce the arms treaty and limitations of armaments fails, Congress will provide whatever is needed for a "adequate national defense," he asserted.

Although President Roosevelt's annual budget is to be submitted to Congress in 20 days, the army and navy estimates have not been completed.

FUNDS UNCERTAIN

"The army and navy figures will be ready sometime in January when our sub-committees are ready to begin work on them," said Buchanan. "But we won't know what the appropriations are going to be because we don't know what Japan and the other powers are going to do."

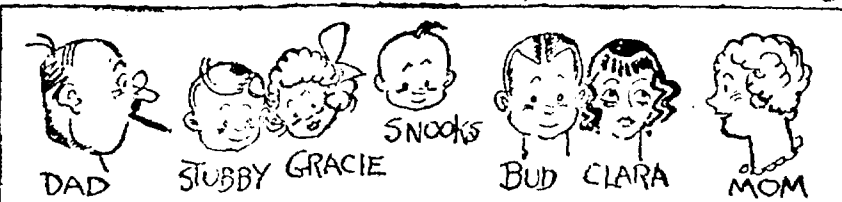

"If the international situation is disturbed, whatever amount may be necessary can be taken care of in a deficiency appropriation bill or a resolution near the end of the session."

"If the arms conference breaks down, I believe that Congress will be willing to provide the funds necessary for an adequate national defense."

"Our initial appropriation bills will provide funds for carrying forward the rebuilding of the navy along the lines of the Vinson bill. I expect the budget estimates to provide for further mechanization of the army.

"I express no opinion on the number of naval vessels to be provided. Whatever is necessary for the national defense, determined after full and careful hearings, should be provided."

Buchanan conceded that army and navy appropriations probably will be increased because of the rise in cost of food and materials. The navy expects its costs to be higher because of a rise in the cost of oil, food, clothing, and both services will be affected if the full pay cut is restored.

Appropriations for the navy in the last session totaled $284,658,799, with $255,526,147 provided for the purely military activities of the war department.

INCREASE STRENGTH

Both services will seek an increase in the enlisted strength in the new Congress, increase of air forces and general strengthening of the military machines.

NYE SEES THIRD POLITICAL PARTY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Senator Gerald Nye, Republican from North Dakota, said while stopping here Thursday that a third party is certain if the Republicans do not adopt a more liberal policy.

He will meet in Washington with Senator Borah next week to discuss possible party changes.

HOW to DANCE

"The Continental"

In 8 Easy Lessons

The Sixth Movement

We are now in the SIXTH MOVEMENT of "THE CONTINENTAL," performed by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers' big new dance in "The Gay Divorcee," and our love story, as depicted by a couple in a dance routine, is a climax.

There are two phases of the SIXTH MOVEMENT. Only the first phase is illustrated above. It is the "Cut Out."

The couple, if you remember, were separated in the FIFTH Movement as the girl did a stunt around her partner. The cut-out starts from the same separated position.

It is done in 4-4 time, four counts to a measure, and requires two bars of music for completion.

As in the sidewise tap, previously explained, the girl's movements are identical with the gentleman's, except that she begins with her left foot and he starts with his right, so that their kicks will be in the same direction.

To do the cut-out the gentleman hops upward with his right toe and strikes it against the floor on counts One and Two of the measure. Simultaneously, the left foot is lifted and kicked backward and to the right on the count of One, then straight out to the left at the count of Two.

On counts Three and Four the same procedure is repeated, except that you hop on the left toe and kick with the right. The movement is then repeated for another count of four.

CONTINUING the development of the SIXTH MOVEMENT, the above illustration shows the second phase of the movement.

Above lesson showed the first phase, or the "cut-out." Now we show the second phase, or the "Low Down Walk." This is "THE CONTINENTAL," one concession to jazz, as danced by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "The Gay Divorcee."

The "cut-out" was timed to two bars of music. Two more bars are devoted to the "low-down strut."

During these two bars of music, a count of eight, the "low-down walk" is employed as the partners strut around in a small circle. They do not cross. The circles are independent.

The "walk" is merely a Fox Trot walk, and is known as the "low-down walk" because the shoulders are shaken up and down in rhythm with the music.

PATTERN 9211

It's a shirtwaist house frock, this spirited and youthful design—just the sort of outfit to set you swinging about your house work in record time. The pleated sleeves are cut in one piece with the chic bodice yokes—a neatly notched collar tops the comfortably full blouse—and the long panel, running from hemline to the yoke, is as slenderizing as it is smart. A striped or checked sersucker, or a bright monotone broad cloth, would be a grand choice for this dress. Then you'll have a frock that will not only be "just right" for the house, but also, when warmer days come along, will be usable as a sport dress.

Pattern 9211 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 26 inch fabric.

Mrs. E. R. Brooks, W. Corwin-st., entertained the members of the Secoto Chapel Ladies' Aid at her home Thursday afternoon.
Fifty members and guests enjoyed the meeting which was opened by the president Mrs. Cecil Ward with a devotional service.
A short business session was conducted and the following program was presented: readings by Mrs. Ned Walker and Mrs. J. E. Hiet and a recitation by Ruth Louise Brooks.
A fifteen minute program of recitation music by Hillaire Haecker was highly enjoyed by the group.
All members having birthdays in December were presented a corsage by their hostess.
Refreshments were served later in the afternoon by Mrs. Brooks who was assisted by her mother and sisters, Mrs. R. L. Row and Misses Ruth and Bernice Row.
MORRIS CHAPEL AID HAS DECEMBER MEETING
Thirty five members and visitors of Morris Chapel Ladies' Aid gathered at the home of Mrs. Harby Allen, Pickaway-twp., Thursday afternoon, for their December session.
Mrs. Albert Musselman, president, opened the meeting with a devotional service which was followed by business transactions.
The program consisted of group singing of Christmas carols and several Christmas readings by Mrs. Charles Mowery, Mrs. Andrew Warner, Miss Dorothy Kerns and Mrs. James Pierce.
Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wayne Martin and Mrs. Ray Johnson.
The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Turner Pentius, Pickaway-twp. with Mrs. Oland Schooley and Mrs. James Pierce assisting.

MRS. KAMMERER IS HOSTESS AT BRIDGE
Mrs. Mildred Karshner, E. Main-st., delightfully entertained eleven of her friends at bridge at Hanley's Tea room Thursday evening. Guests were members of her club and Miss Ethel Stein and Mrs. Fred Dauenhauer.
Three tables of cards were in play with high score trophies going to Miss Stein and Mrs. I. W. Kinsey.
A dainty salad course was served at an attractively appointed table bringing the enjoyable hours to a close.

MISS NELSON ENTERTAINS
Miss Helen Yates was an additional guest when Miss Virginia Nelson, S. Court-st., entertained the members of her two table bridge club Thursday evening at her home.
The pleasant hours around the card tables were brought to a close when the hostess served tempting refreshments. Mrs. Vaughn Crites and Miss Dorothy Sampson received favors for high score in the game.

George Seimer of Rossville, Ill. is visiting here at the home of his brother Elmer Seimer, who is seriously ill at his home on W. Corwin-st.

SEASON OF DANGERS

THE season of dangers is the only thing upon which should fall the warnings which annually come at this time of the year from watchful family physicians and public health officers. It would pay all to heed them and heed them well.

During the changeable days of autumn and winter people should be careful in their habits. Influenza in epidemic form can make its appearance with startling suddenness under the proper combination of atmospheric conditions and human carelessness. And the common cold thrives on the same sort of combination.

Certain rules are almost essential in fall and winter if one is to escape these ills, which are always annoying and often serious. These simple rules are dress sensibly, eat carefully, sleep regularly and make sure body poisons are being thrown off properly. Where body resistance is strong weather changes are not to be feared.

No other three human maladies cause as much discomfort and economic loss as influenza, grippe and colds. Through millions of production days are lost between November 1 and June 1, virtually every employed man and woman losing at least one day's work a year because of one or the other of them.

Could medical science exterminate the germs responsible for these human disorders, it would thereby bestow upon mankind the greatest of all benefactions. But while waiting for this long-hoped-for benefaction the public should make the fullest use of known methods of prevention.

A MATTER OF AGE

MRS. Roosevelt believes that 6 or 7 is not too early an age for putting a child on an allowance, though a very small allowance. "They must learn how to manage their own money," said Mrs. Roosevelt. "If they are constantly allowed to ask their fathers and mothers for everything which they want, they never have a free choice, which comes when you have your own money and can decide how to spend it and when to save it and what to give away."

The recommendation is so far from the idea of regimentation and has such a decided ring about it of rugged, although pre-adolescent, individualism and laissez faire that it makes a person rub his eyes. One will recall, however, that there is a gap, individualism for the six and seven-year-olds is a far step from the individualism of railroad presidents, farmers and manufacturers.

CAROLINE by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

CHAPTER XXVII

"What can you know—that Howard hasn't told me?" Caroline demanded, confident that her mother was harboring some unfounded suspicion.

"I know that there is reason to believe that Howard married Gwendolyn Hoffmann to better the Duns-worth fortunes," Alva said caustically. "We have kept it from you, your father and I, but he learned recently that it was Gwendolyn's father who backed Henry Duns-worth in gaining control of the Rutledge factory and ruining Philip."

Caroline was stunned for a moment, then, "But that isn't Howard's fault!" she cried. "It only brought him and Gwendolyn together—he told me himself, that his father and Mr. Hoffmann were negotiating some business deal at the time."

"Some business deal!" Alva repeated. "He did not tell you it was the Rutledge factory they were negotiating? Don't you see, Caroline, that was evasion, to say the least."

"Mother, we hadn't time to talk about that. Why should Howard deceive me?"

"To keep you from suspecting that he had married for money," Caroline shook her head, a patient half-smile softening her lips. "Howard knows I shouldn't believe that, really," she said dreamily.

Alva regarded her in dismay. "You still believe that nonsense about sacrificing himself?"

"Of course," Caroline admitted. "But don't let's quarrel, please. Perhaps I am a weak sentimentalist—I wasn't, once, and I made a mess of everything. If I were to be suspicious and hard now I should have no happiness at all to hope for."

Then you would gamble on Howard's honesty? You expect—happiness with him?"

"Yes."

"They are going to be divorced?"

"Naturally."

"Did he tell you so?"

"I think he was about to tell me when you arrived."

"Oh, please, Mother," the girl passed a hand wearily before her eyes. "I'm very tired."

Alva could not say more. The time until Howard came again was passed in silent, anxious speculation. She admitted him with frosty politeness, took the box of roses he brought and told him that Caroline was in the living room.

The girl, excited, had slept but little the night before, for deep in her heart was a snail's pace of fairly schooled her mother's doubts. She was lying on the couch, her head on a blue silken pillow. Her hair, cut short, looked like a halo of red-gold about her ethereal countenance.

Her last faint doubt fled before Howard's smile. She stooped toward him. How foolish, how recklessly ungrateful, to weigh love in the scale with other emotions.

"You're like an orchid," he said. "I feel as though I should crush you if I like to hold you as close as I do."

Caroline smiled, remembering that her grandfather had called her mother an orchid for a very different reason. Well, Alva was no longer a parasite; nor was she as frail as a flower. She was a girl, finally alive with new hope—waiting.

Her mother came in with the roses in a vase. "Talisman," Caroline breathed. "They do act as a charm, don't they? The room is positively aglow with their glow with temperance," her mother reminded her. "Don't let her talk too much, Howard."

"Howard will do the talking," Caroline said.

Mrs. Rutledge left them, but Howard did not say the things Caroline was waiting to hear. Instead he talked about his flight to California—polo at Del Monte, sailing in San Francisco Bay, tuna fishing, the week he spent at Catalina, and of the newly aroused interest among society people in Mexico City.

"We will go there some day, Caro," he said eagerly; "you haven't been, have you?"

"Not to Mexico City. I should like to go."

"I shan't be able to get away for quite a while. Dad's got a job for me at the factory. At least he insists that I hang around a few hours each day. I can't refuse, because I'm up against it financially."

Suddenly Caroline laughed. "It's not a bad place to work," she said, unconsciously repeating the words Malcolm had used.

"But I hate to be tied down for no good purpose at all," he objected. "Perhaps I have," she said. "You see, I worked for your father several months this summer, my dear. To some purpose, I assure you."

He looked at her blankly. "In the factory," she added.

Alva had raised funds, and suspected that they were nearer the exact end of their resources than her mother had admitted. It might be necessary to go back to the factory, but the work would no longer be made easier through being a medium to success.

She did not like to tell Howard what was in her mind, but he appeared to guess.

"If I ask you to wait for me," he said tactfully, "I have the right to ask you to allow me to assume your support."

Caroline looked doubtful. "It might be splitting hairs for me to refuse, if it were the only one," she replied. "But there are my parents. Mother would never hear of it."

"How about your father? We might arrange it through him so that she would not know."

Caroline knew, instantly, that he had been hearing tales about her father. She felt angrily humiliated, but the anger was directed toward Philip.

"I wouldn't do that to Mother," she said, making no vain defense of her father, "besides, you have just told me that you're strapping."

He laughed. "Well, of course, not actually. Dad's just putting his grip on me a bit because . . . he thinks Gwendolyn and I would get along better if I were on a job."

"Q—then he will oppose a divorce?"

Howard answered uneasily: "He's under some . . . obligation to Gwendolyn's father, I think. And Mr. Hoffmann is opposed to divorce under any circumstances."

"I've heard that he backed your father in getting the Rutledge factory," Caroline told him.

Howard hesitated. "Something like that, I'm afraid," he admitted. "It's made it deuced uncomfortable for me. Anything I do that Hoffmann doesn't like is letting Dad down, in a way."

Caroline felt a chill of foreboding come over her. "Does Mr. Hoffmann know that you and Gwendolyn want a divorce?" she asked.

"He knows we don't agree but—well, there hasn't been any talk of divorce, as yet. You see, Caroline, I can't rush things. I've made one bad mistake, I can't afford to make another. Right now, with things as they are, it would ruin Dad if Hoffmann withdrew his support."

That's one of the things that makes life with Gwen so hard to endure. You can imagine, can't you, the advantage she takes of my position? Believe me, Caro, I never dreamed I could be so miserable."

MRS. GILLIS FACES TERM OF ONE YEAR

Gangster's Widow Taken To
Madison Jail To Await
Hearing Today.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 7.—Mrs. Helen Gillis, 21-year-old widow of desperado George "Baby Face" Nelson, was locked in the Dane-co jail today awaiting disposition of her fate by federal authorities bent on crushing the last remnants of the Dillinger gang.

Department of justice agents maintained a close guard over the fragile widow since she was secretly hurried here from Chicago yesterday after a week of questioning.

Mrs. Gillis may be arraigned today before Federal Judge Patrick Stone for violation of probation, an offense for which she may be sent to prison for a year and a day.

She was placed on probation here last May after pleading guilty to a charge of harboring John Dillinger and Nelson in the Little Bohemia resort at Mercer, Wis. Mrs. Gillis and two other gang girls were captured after the desperados shot their way out of a federal trap at the resort, killing a federal operative in the battle.

Mrs. Gillis was with her public enemy husband, Nelson, when he and two federal agents, Samuel P. Cowley and Herman Hollis, were shot to death in the course of a desperate gun battle at Barrington, Ill. Government officials said they had not yet determined whether the widow would be prosecuted for her asserted part in the Barrington slayings.

KNOW YOUR WORLD

Christ of the Andes

Christ of the Andes.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of instructive articles on points of interest in the world.

By Central Press.

ONE OF THE most remarkable monuments in the world is a colossal bronze statue of Jesus Christ set up on the highest accessible point on the once disputed boundary between Chile and Argentina.

In 1902 Chile and Argentina were preparing for war over a boundary dispute. Through the efforts of women and clergy the powers were persuaded to settle the question by arbitration. Money thus saved, it was pointed out, could be used for harbors and roads. Part of the money, that might have been spent for war went into the building of the great trans-Andean railway, connecting Santiago and Buenos Aires.

Women of both countries raised the money for the statue. Bronze was obtained by melting down old cannon taken from Spain in the war of independence. The figure of Christ is 26 feet high and stands on a tall granite pillar surmounted by a globe on which a map of the world is outlined. A tablet at the base bears this inscription:

"Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace to which they have pledged themselves at the feet of Christ the Redeemer."

ABANDON HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF 3 AIRMEN

Search Continues in Hawaiian Waters But All Hope Is Feared Gone.

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 7.—Hope fastly waned today in the search for Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm and his two companions, Navigator J. A. Skilling and Co. Pilot G. M. Littlejohn who were forced down at sea three days ago in a tragic climax to their ill-fated trans-Pacific flight.

Fears were increased that the monoplane, "Star of Australia," probably sank shortly after striking the water near Honolulu just before noon Tuesday.

Sixteen of the 20 naval sea-planes participating in the search within a 300-mile radius of Honolulu were ordered grounded by Admiral Harry Yarnell.

Admiral Yarnell issued the order to "permit the crews, working for 72 hours, a chance to recuperate and check the engines of their planes."

He also ordered nine submarines to return to their base at Lahaina to await further orders.

Surface ships patrolling the waters were reduced to 11.

Three coast guard vessels continued to search the seas within a 300-mile radius of Oahu Island.

A howling wind which churned the ocean last night hampered search operations.

Naval fliers returning to their base late yesterday reported the heavy wind 200 miles off shore in a northerly direction.

Have you found the
on your grocer's shelf?

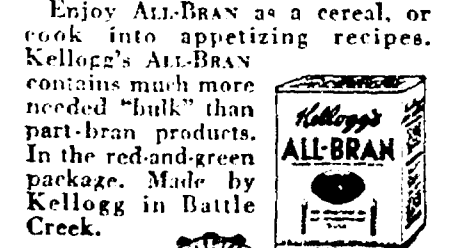

It's a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. Millions of Americans have found Kellogg's All-Bray a safe, effective means of correcting common complaints—the kind caused by lack of "bulk" in the menu.

Laboratory measurements show that All-Bray provides "bulk" to aid elimination. All-Bray also supplies vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in this tempting cereal is more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables—because it resists digestion better. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this cleans out the intestinal waste.

Isn't this natural food better than taking patent medicines? Two table-spoonfuls of All-Bray daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If this fails to give relief, see your doctor.

Enjoy All-Bray as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Kellogg's All-Bray contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HOLD CAGE CLINIC

Basketball clinic of more than passing importance one from which local eagles might obtain a number of pointers will be held in Chillicothe tomorrow at the high school gymnasium. Coach Earl Young of the Chillicothe school is in charge of it and has on the program Trainer Tom O'Leary of Ohio University to talk at 9:30 on "Common Injuries and Sprains"; Russ Finsterwald, official; Butch Grover, Ohio U. coach; and H. R. Townsend, high school athletic commissioner for Ohio. It looks like an Ohio university homecoming but it isn't—400 are expected to attend.

IRISH LEAD PARADE

Notre Dame might not have the best football team in the nation but it draws the cash customers through the turnstile figures announced Thursday show to Irish played before 357,000 persons in eight games; last year it was 382,000—Ohio State ranks second in the Midwest with 205,995 seeing five games against 137,896 a year ago. Army and Navy trail the Irish in second and third places.

BERENS IS TOUGH

Ohio State's eagles opening their season Saturday night must stop Bernard Berens tall center from Lancaster if they are going to win from the Ohio U. team—Beane as he is called is an alumnus of St. Mary's and is plenty tough under that basket.

STARTS AT 7:30

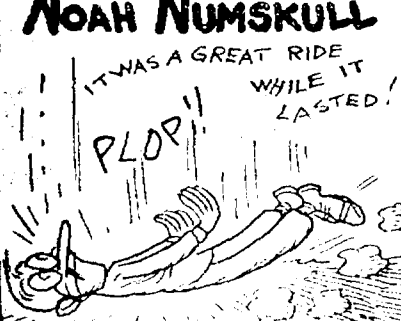

See you this evening at the high school game; the preliminary starts at 7:30 and the main event is 8:30.

SELL OUT LOOMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Not so many years ago, interest in professional football was at such a low ebb that you could hardly give away tickets.

To have a sell-out in prospect for the championship play-off game here Sunday between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears, a counterfeiter was peddling spurious tickets for the game. Officials of the New York club were on the warpath in the Times Square district, trying to run down scoundrels selling fake duets.

BIG TEN FACES FIVE ISSUES IN 2-DAY SESSION

May Move Practice Date Up; Freshman Ruling Considered Important.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—The machinery which makes the wheels go around in the Western conference will be overhauled and geared for another year today when the coaches, faculty advisers and directors of athletics gathered here for the annual two day meeting.

In addition to drawing up schedules for the various sports a number of important matters were up for discussion. These were sorely within the province of the faculty committee, governing body of Big Ten affairs.

Foremost among these problems were:

1. Opening of football practice on Sept. 10 instead of Sept. 15.
2. Elimination of the interpretation which counts fresh man competition elsewhere. The same as varsity competition in the Big Ten.
3. Approval of a modified training table to permit one meal a day for football players.
4. Restoration of budgets for minor sports.
5. Banning outside coaching and writing by western conference coaches during the season.

The earlier football practice date is being urged by institutions such as Purdue, Indiana and others where Sept. 15 usually marks the opening of classes. Their coaches argue that Ohio State, Michigan and one or two other schools can practice all day until Oct. 1, while they are limited by rules to two hours after classes begin.

Minnesota is vitally interested in the freshman interpretation, for unless there is a change the great 1933 Gopher football machine will lose some of its key men, including Phil Egan and Stan Kortka, both of whom played fresh man football at Oregon before entering Minnesota.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR PRO CONTEST

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Officials who will call the decisions in the world's championship football game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears in New York Sunday were announced here today by Joe Carr, president of the national football league.

They were Bobbie Cahn (Chicago of Chicago, Ill., referee); G. W. Lowe (Dartmouth) of Boston, umpire; George Vergara (Notre Dame) of New York, head linesman; and Judge M. J. Meyer (Ohio Wesleyan) of Toledo, field-judge.

CAGE SEASON OPENS TONITE

Williamsport Comes Here; Two County Games Also Holding Interest.

Williamsport is expected to bring a large number of rooters here this evening when its basketball team tangles with the Circleville high team in the bid-lifter in this city.

Reserves of both schools will open the evening program at 7:30 o'clock with Johnny Heiskell on the whistle end.

Williamsport is reported to have a pretty fair cage team this year and may make the Tigers step along.

Coach Herberholz has not yet announced his starting lineup with the pivotal position reported at a deadlock between Charlie Styers and Fred Grant.

Henry, Speakman, John Jenkins and Kirwin are expected to be four of the starters.

Two other games are holding considerable interest tonight. They are the Ashville-New Holland fray on the former court and that between Salsberger and Stoutsville on the Fairfield-co floor.

Bowling News

Strawboard bowlers occupied the Circleville recreation alleys Thursday evening with the result that the Papermakers lost two to the Office in close matches and the Power crew took a pair from the Maintainers.

Watson with 485, Pike with 480 and Norris with 465 were the team leaders.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

George W. Dennis, Plaintiff.

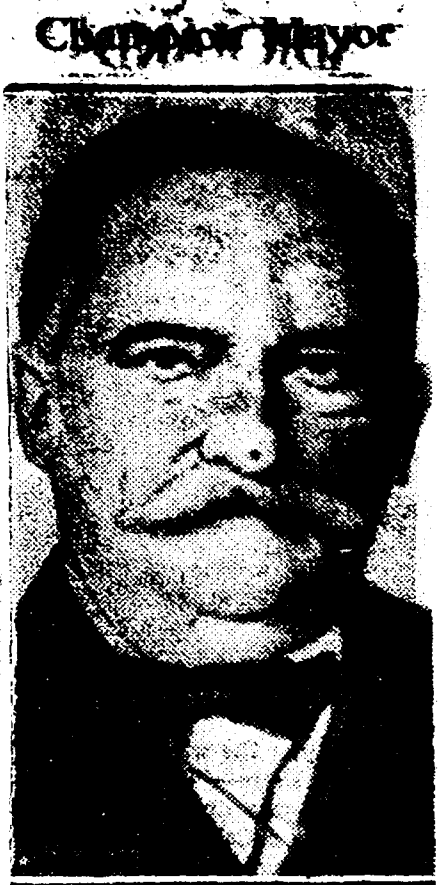

Luther W. Ours et al. Defendant. Court of Common Pleas, Pickaway County, Ohio.

In pursuance of an Order of Sale from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, 1935 at 2 o'clock, P. M., the following described real estate, situate in the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, and being Township of Monroe and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Part of Virginia Military Survey No. 429, and 1200, bounded and described as follows: viz: beginning at a point in the middle of the New and Old Circleville Road where the same is intersected by the middle of the Five Points and Williamsport Pike, running thence with the middle of said pike S. 22 deg. 20 min. W. 42 poles to a stake; N. 30 deg. W. 75 poles to a stake; and thence S. 26 deg. E. 26 poles to a stake; thence leaving said pike N. 70 deg. E. 160 poles, 21 links to a stone in the east line of said survey N. 02 deg. 00 min. W. said line, S. 12 deg. W. 100 poles, more or less to two Burr oaks and an Elm, the N. W. corner of a thirty-acre parcel in the S. W. corner of Survey No. 7559, formerly owned by William Dick, thence with the N. line of said parcel S. 72 deg. E. 84 1/2 poles to two Burr Oaks, a Black Oak, and an Elm; thence S. 12 deg. W. 63 poles, S. 75 deg. 20 min. W. 42 poles to the place of beginning, containing 123 acres more or less of which 80 acres are located in Survey No. 7559.

Also the tract of land on the S. W. side of the Dawson Road, easterly of and adjoining the premises above described, bounded and described as follows: viz: beginning at two Burr Oaks and two Burr Ash in N. 02 deg. 00 min. W. road, running thence with said road S. 56 deg. E. 36 poles, S. 63 deg. E. 29 poles to a stake and two Burr Oaks, thence leaving said road, S. 12 deg. Frances Perkins constantly is slugging off key. This is not new with the Secretary of Labor. As a member of Roosevelt's cabinet in New York State, she successfully shunned the press. She hesitated to come to Washington for that reason. "Here (in New York) we have been building brick by brick," she told a friend just before she accepted the Secretaryship of Labor. "But in Washington we shall be expected to perform miracles overnight and with the full spotlight of publicity playing on us. I hate the thought of it."

At the beginning of the New Deal, Miss Perkins probably got a better press than any other member of the Cabinet. But it did not last long. She was hostile, dictatorial, irregular with her press conferences and invariably late. Almost every conference started with a little harangue by the Secretary in which she adopted the attitude of a school-warden explaining the ABCs. Finally, a newsman broke in with a question. Then, if the firing became too hot the conference was suddenly terminated.

Rising, Miss Perkins announced: "I'm sorry, you will have to excuse me. I have another appointment."

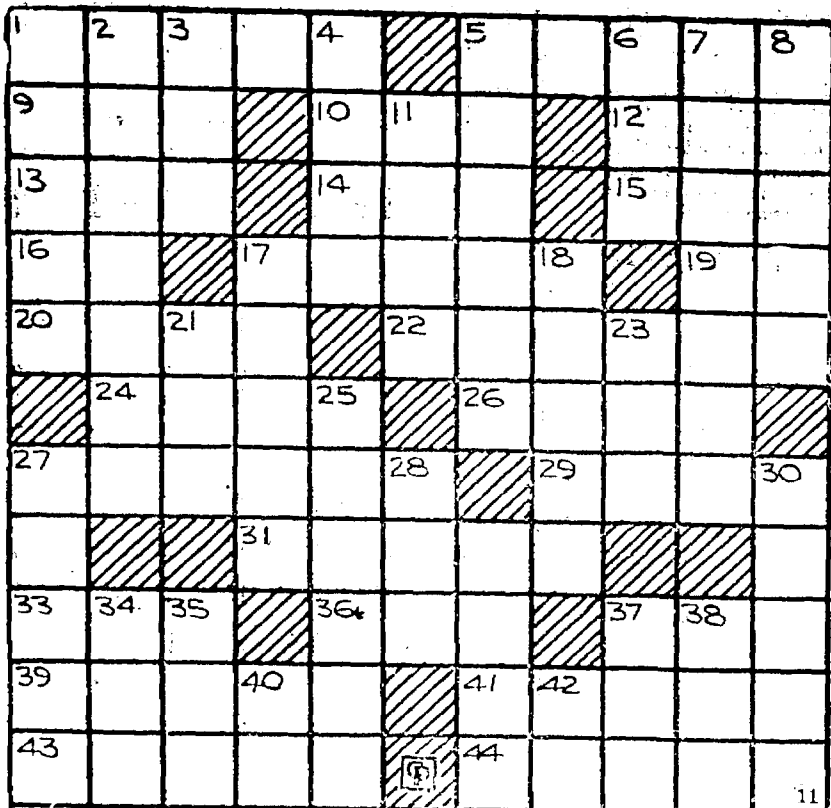

Charles S. Ashley, 76, is beginning his 27th term as mayor of New Bedford, Mass., and friends claim a world's record for continuous service for him.

VILLAGE PWA WORK MOVING AT FAST PACE

Weather Fine For Ashville Water Works Project; New Bonds Being Printed.

Weather conditions the past month have been favorable and as a result considerable progress has been made on Ashville's water works project.

Barling and Son have completed laying water mains, placing fire hydrants and testing of lines on the west side with the exception of several squares on Jefferson-ave. In the territory east of the Norfolk & Western railroad there yet remains that portion of Long-st from Gay south to Main-st, Bortz-st and all of Main-st.

The one part of the work that has lagged behind is the property installations. The contract specifies these are to be pushed in from the mains. The machine being used will do the work provided no obstructions are to be dealt with, but so far very few have gone in on first trial. The contractors have laid off their machine crews and are back filling the trenches as soon as tested. They will follow up later and if impossible to push the pipes will dig the trench and install the line. The guarantee of 180 free services has been secured and quite a few are yet signing conditional applications. Some measures will have to be provided to take care of all who desire the service.

Downing & Hetrick are working on the iron removal plant, the concrete foundation having been poured.

ed last week. This building is located midway between the well already drilled and the one soon to be put down by G. M. Baker and Son of Columbus who have their drilling machine on the site ready to begin work.

The Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, contractors for erection of the 100,000 gallon elevated tank to be located just west of the N. & W. depot have their tools on the ground and will soon be ready for their part of the work.

The sanitary sewer project is marking time and as yet contracts have not been signed by the successful bidders. The $32,000 general obligations bonds to finance the work are in the hands of Columbus printers and will undoubtedly be sold to parties other than the government. This will do away with the delay experienced in getting the water works funds and at the same time the village will not lose the promised government grant of 30 per cent of construction costs.

ACCORD EXPECTED

Three hours lucubration, ended at midnight with no agreement reached, but Rep. James A. Jones (R) Ravenna, member of the conference committee, said he anticipated an accord soon after deliberations were resumed at 9:30 a. m. today.

Besides Jones, other committee members for the House were Reps. Julius Headington (D) Mt. Vernon, and B. J. McCluskey (D) Cleveland, author of the bill. The senate members were Frank Whittemore (R) Akron; W. P. Haynes (D) West Lafayette, and E. N. Waldvogel (D) Cincinnati.

Chief points of contention were whether to apply the increase to railroads as well as other utilities, the house saying yes and the senate no; whether to exempt all utilities in charter cities (Cincinnati and Akron) where the new 10-mill real estate tax limitation will not be operative, and whether to include or omit the Whittemore senate amendment exempting from the excise tax the first $100,000 gross income of gas and telephone companies.

Reason for increasing the utilities excise tax was to retrieve for the state a portion of the money utility companies will save when the new 10-mill amendment becomes effective next year. Their total savings is estimated at $6,000,000, only half of which would be recovered under the McCluskey bill if railroads, because of their unhealthy fiscal condition, are spared the one per cent increase.

For a time after the Senate turned thumbs down on the income tax the whole program appeared in jeopardy. House members boomed a message from the upper house announcing the 19-to-8 defeat of its pet measure, but they backed down on their threat to kill the sales tax by refusing to concur in senate amendments exempting milk, bread and newspapers and making numerous other corrections in the bill as passed by the House.

BALLOT 73 to 23

Tremendous pressure was exerted by the school and local government lobbies before the House finally voted 73 to 23 to accept the senate amendments, after being assured by Rep. Keith Lawrence (D) Cleveland, there remained not a particle of hope that the senate would recede from its obstinate anti-income tax position.

Lobbyists not only "applied the heat" behind the rail in the house chamber but invaded the floor itself. Twice the sergeant-at-arms marched lobbyists off the floor after receiving complaints from members.

In urging House members to accept senate changes in the sales tax, Majority Floor Leader Lawrence stated that even with the income tax omitted the tax bills agreed upon would raise $75,000,000 or more.

"After all," he said, "the income tax, outside of the principle involved, is of minor importance as it would have raised no revenue until 1936. The senate agreed to three-fourths of our program. I am unwilling to take the responsibility for enacting no program, simply because we couldn't get all we wanted."

PLAQUE LEADS TO OPENING OF GAME RESERVE

Roosevelt Park in Scioto-Co To Be Thrown Open January 1.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—After 12 years as a "forbidden land" for hunters and fishermen, the 9,000 acres of the Roosevelt game preserve in Scioto-co are to be thrown open for full recreational activities.

Discovery of a bronze plaque on a forgotten monument in an overgrown spot of the woods resulted in the ruling by the state conservation council yesterday declaring that the park henceforth will be open to sportsmen.

The plaque brought to memory the fact that the park was purchased from hunting license funds and originally was dedicated "to the benefit of Ohio sportsmen." For the last 12 years, however, the park has been banned to hunters and fishermen.

PLAQUE FOUND

Discovery of the forgotten plaque was made recently by State Conservation Commissioner William J. Reinhart upon a visit to the game preserve to inspect a 27-acre lake being constructed by his department there. Reporting the plaque's inscription to members of the conservation council, Reinhart asked that the park be restored immediately to the purposes of Ohio Sportsmen. The proposal was adopted immediately.

As a result of the council's action, the game preserve will be thrown open to hunters and fishermen beginning Jan. 1, 1935. Preparations will be made, according to Reinhart, to handle large parties of sportsmen.

Because of the fact it has been barred against hunters and fishermen for the last 12 years, the preserve should be a virtual "sportsman's paradise," Reinhart indicated. He said the park abounds with small game. The adjoining 27-acre lake will be stocked next year with thousands of mature fish to provide immediate sport.

Reinhart said plans are being made for the construction of camp-sites, outdoor ovens and community dining halls in the park. It is planned, he said, to charge a small registration fee for admittance to the park, the money to be used for the upkeep of the preserve.
